Local officer's death shocks region

By BRENDAN FOLEY

AUBURN- A national audience has sat riveted watching the unfolding tragedy of the murder of police officer Ronald Tarentino. Tarentino, an officer out of Auburn, was slain during a routine traffic stop on Sunday. The tragedy has been felt deeply in law enforcement across the country, but it strikes a particular chord in Tewksbury. Tarentino grew up in Tewksbury, graduating from the High School in 1991, and he still has family in town.

Tarentino, 42, was shot after pulling over an SUV driven by Jorge Zambrano. Zambrano, a repeat offender with charges to his name including drug trafficking and assault and battery, had been pulled over driving the same car only a week beforehand. Zambrano was arrested without incident, and charged for attaching plates, operating with a revoked license and operating an unregistered motor vehicle.

It remains unclear why Zambrano chose to open fire on Tarentino on that Sunday morning. Zambrano was killed after ambushing police officers in his home at Oxford.

While they wait for answers, those who knew and worked with Tarentino struggle to process the weight of their grief.

"You never think it's going to happen to you, it hits you like a sledgehammer. It's just not fair," Sharon Tarentino, Ronald's mother and

Board of Selectmen in chaos

*McCoy and Champoux, McCoy and others, all at war of wordsBy BRENDAN FOLEY

WILMINGTON- Whatever veneer of civility and polite disagreement the Board of Selectmen have attempted to maintain since Michael McCoy's shocking allegations at Town Meeting collapsed during Monday night's Board of Selectman meeting. Years of disagreements and disputes bubbled back to the surface as Selectmen both past and present lashed out at one another while the cameras rolled.

At Town Meeting, McCoy used discussion of Article 41, an amendment to pre-existing town policy which formalized the appointment committee for the Finance Committee, as an opportunity to publicly accuse Selectman Judith O'Connell and former Selectman Michael Newhouse of threatening Town Manager Jeffery Hull's position with the town, citing conversations between himself, Hull, and Selectman Michael Champoux in closed session.

Hull, Champoux, O'Connell, and Newhouse all publicly denied McCoy's allegations at Town Meeting.

McCoy revived his accusations at the Board of Selectmen meeting on May 9. That meeting saw O'Connell named Chairperson for the Board of Selectmen, ratified by a unanimous vote in which McCoy took part. However, at the end of the meeting and shortly after congratulating O'Connell on her appointment, McCoy reiterated his claim of impropriety on the part of O'Connell and Newhouse.

This prompted a new sequence of angry debate, with newly elected Selectman Kevin Cairra challenging whether the discussion was at all relevant to any agenda items, suggesting that McCoy set discussion of his claims and complaints as an agenda item at the next meeting.

Per O'Connell, McCoy contacted her via telephone in the time between the Selectmen meetings and requested for an agenda item designated for discussion of this matter.

In a prepared statement which McCoy read aloud, and which he provided physical copies to members of the media, he attempted to shift away from the language of "threats," without backing down from his initial grievances.

"I am going to bring closure to this issue tonight," McCoy read. "I used the word

TWEEKSBURY- The people who knew and loved Ronald Tarentino are still struggling to come to terms with his absence in the world. From his childhood through his career as a police officer, Tarentino was a source of cheer and camaraderie to many across several communities. His shocking loss has left many speechless.

When they do find the words, his friends and family describe a big, loving presence in their lives.

Lamplighters performance the 'Cats' meow

By KRISTA BRESNAHAN
News Correspondent
krista@yourtowncrier.com

WILMINGTON — The Lamplighter's Drama Guild took the stage last Thursday night for a performance of "Cats: The Musical," the first of three in their new home at Wilmington High School's auditorium.

The Andrew Lloyd Webber show, based off the T.S. Elliott classic "Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats" is described on the show's official site as being "set amongst a larger-than-life junkyard playground [that] comes alive with a community of many different felines all with distinct personalities."

"My favorite part about being in Cats is the community," said cast member Kate Fitzpatrick, who played Grizabella. "All of the characters are really different individuals, but they all come together."

The cast enjoyed an enthusiastic crowd for opening night, clapping and cheering for crowd favorites such as "Skimbleshanks: The Railway Cat," "Macavity: The Mystery Cat," "Magical Mister Mistoffelees," and the show's most recognizable tune, "Memory."

"Cats is a very different show, and it's really fun to perform," said Julia Burke, who played Demeter and Mungojerrie, "I thought it went really well tonight, we were pleased, and hopefully it's a hard show to follow!"

The story of Cats is one told through many voices, the songs bringing to light the individual stories of the cats that make up the Jellicle tribe. They tell their stories during their most special occasion, the night of Jellicle Ball. As described on the musical's official site, one by one, the cats tell their stories for the amusement of Old Deuteronomy, their wise and benevolent leader, who chooses one of the cats to ascend to The Heaviseide Layer and be reborn into a new Jellicle life.

The show is made up entirely of the stories of the cats being told through song, describing their different personalities and lifestyles.

It takes a considerable effort to turn a very human cast into their feline altar-egos, but with attention to detail the Lamplighters were transformed, leaving their human features behind for a time to adopt the whiskers, coats, and even ears of the Jellicles. The care taken in defining each cat through carefully crafted facial markings costuming was evident, and served to bring forth their individuality and even personality.

Samantha Lodato, who played Etcetera, enjoyed the transformation thoroughly. "One of my favorite parts of being in Cats was the makeup; it was really fun and helped us to look the part!"

HOW SAFE IS YOUR ANNUITY?

The money that you invest in a fixed annuity is pretty darn safe. Very few small insurers have gone under in recent years, and—most important—all those companies who are licensed to sell you an annuity have to be members of the state's guaranty association. That means that if the insurer were to have trouble, the state insurance regulator would find another company to take over the responsibility. Should the regulator be unable to find another insurer, the guaranty association takes over the coverage.

All states cover at least $250,000 in annuity benefits; a dozen and the District of Columbia offer more.

Be a smart investor. Research before you buy. Look for a company that's rated B+ or better from A.M. Best. It may also be advisable to split the total into two annuity policies so that each will keep you under your state limits.

Former Wilmington resident and hedge fund manager sentenced to prison for fraud

By BRENDAN FOLEY
News Correspondent

brendanmfoley@outlook.com

BOSTON — A whopping sum of $1.3 million in fraud finally caught up to a former Wilmington hedge fund manager, netting a 42 month prison sentence for the guilty party.

Gregg D. Caplitz, 57, lived in Wilmington during the duration of his crimes. From 2008 to March 2013, Caplitz and his business partner, Rosalind Herman, pitched clients on a non-existent hedge fund company.

Caplitz and Herman billed their victims to a hedge fund company purportedly owned by Herman. No such hedge fund ever existed, with the money instead going directly into the pockets of Caplitz and Herman.

"Caplitz and his firm conjured up a hedge fund to lure longtime clients into investing substantial amounts of money that became nothing more than a slush fund to pay bills for others," said Julie M. Riewe, deputy chief of the SEC Enforcement Division's Asset Management Unit, at the time of Caplitz's indictment.

An article by the Lowell Sun dated March 20, 2013, states that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) alleged that Caplitz convinced one client to invest $275,000 into the non-existent hedge fund.

Per a press release from the U.S. Attorney's Office, Caplitz and Herman duped more than a dozen victims out of more than $1.3 million. The U.S. Attorney's Office stated that the primary source for these bogus investments was the retirement funds of the victims.

"The money was then spent on personal items, including groceries, fast food and gas. It also was used on legal bills for an unrelated criminal case," according to an article in Boston Business Journal, dated March 18, 2013. "In many cases, the money was spent almost as fast as it was taken from the duped investors. The Hermans often spent $10,000-plus each week."

At the time of his indictment, Caplitz worked as an investment advisor for Insight Onsite Strategic Management in Wilmington. Caplitz had worked as a licensed and registered investment advisor for more than 20 years prior to his arrest.

An article in Wicked Local, dated March 21, 2013, elaborated on Caplitz and Herman's methodology.

"Caplitz allegedly signed over most of the commissions to corporations controlled by Rosalind Herman, 57, of Las Vegas, Nevada," the uncredited article reads.

"She, in turn, paid Caplitz from the corporate accounts, but did not report those payments to the IRS."

"Also, she did not report the commission income Caplitz had diverted to the corporations. Herman and Caplitz are accused of claiming false business expenses on the corporate returns so little or no tax was paid on the commission income."

At that time, Wicked Local wrote that Caplitz faced three years in prison and a possible fine of $2.4 million.

In April of 2014, Caplitz pled guilty to conspiracy to commit investor fraud, wire fraud, submitting false statements to the SEC, four counts of wire fraud, and five counts of filing false tax returns. The case was prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Sara Miron Bloom of United States Attorney Carmen M. Ortiz's Economic Crimes Unit.

His trial last six days, and concluded with his conviction on counts of investment advisor fraud, tax fraud, wire fraud, and conspiracy.

On May 17, Caplitz was sentenced to 42 months in prison, three years in supervised release, and ordered to pay restitution of $1,899,203.

Brown one of 54 recipients nationwide to be awarded Truman Scholarship

By SARA BROWN
News Correspondent
office@yourtowncrier.com

Trinity College senior, Margaret Brown, says she likes helping people because it is the right thing to do, not for the recognition. That is why when she found out she won the prestigious Harry S. Truman Scholarship for 2016, she was a little more than surprised.

"I was kind of shocked. I was speechless. I didn't see this coming. I do the work that I do because I enjoy it," the Wilmington native said. Brown is one of only 54 recipients nationwide. The Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation was created by Congress in 1975 to be the nation's living memorial to President Harry S. Truman. The foundation's mission is to select and support the next generation of public service leaders.

Each recipient receives a $30,000 scholarship for graduate school. Brown and the other winners will receive their awards in a ceremony at the Harry S. Truman Presidential Library and Museum in Washington, D.C., on Sunday, May 29.

"It really is an honor to receive this. I am overwhelmed," she said.

Along with her academic responsibilities, Brown works 40 hours a week at Our Piece of the Pie, a non-profit organization in Hartford for at-risk urban youth.

"I work with kids between the ages of 16 and 24. We help them overcome their issues and become successful young adults," she said.

Brown said her love of volunteerism began when she was a student at Wilmington High School. She volunteered for various organizations during her time there. She would eventually intern at the Boys and Girls Club in Lawrence.

"That's when I realized I love working with kids. It doesn't feel like a job and there never is a dull moment,"

Brown said. "When I see a kid accomplish a goal, it feels good knowing that I helped them in a way. I had mentors too growing up and people that looked out for me. This is my way of giving back."

Brown is currently a double major in urban studies and human rights. She plans on going to law school once she graduates from Trinity College in 2017. She wants to be a defender for those in the juvenile detention program. Brown is also a member of "New Beginnings," an on-campus meeting group between students and women who have recently been released from York Correctional Institution. The group works on supporting women acclimate to life outside of prison.

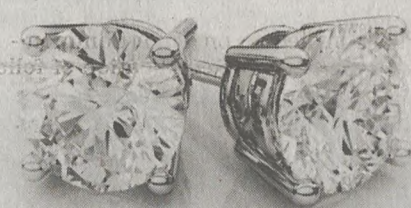

"Everyone makes mistakes. Everyone deserves a second chance. The court system should be a learning opportunity for children. It shouldn't ruin their lives," she said. "I learned this from the kids that I work with at Our Piece of the Pie. We all have dreams. We all should get the chance to achieve them."

Brown said she is looking forward to the ceremony and meeting the rest of the recipients.

"I am going to meet people, I otherwise would never have the chance to me. I am very thankful for this opportunity," she said.

Scott Brady shares eulogy he wrote about his brother Tim's addiction and passing

Dear Editor:

On May 15, 2016, my brother, Timothy Brady, died from a drug overdose in our home in Wilmington. He was 28 years old. My brother struggled with prescription drug and heroin addiction for the final 12 years of his life.

I have included the eulogy that I wrote and read at his funeral, with hopes to bring more awareness to the epidemic of heroin and to break the stigma attached to drug abuse and mental health.

First and foremost, my family and I would like to thank all of our friends and family who have shown us overwhelming love and support throughout this extremely difficult time.

Many people traveled great distances to be here to show their love to us and to my brother, and for that, we are forever grateful.

My family and I would also like to thank the Wilmington police and fire departments. The care and concern that they showed to, not just my family, but specifically my mother, was nothing less than professional and truly kind. And to all of you, we are thankful.

Tim. There are certain words that come to mind when I think of you. Loving. Silly. Charismatic. Funny. Flirtatious. Mischievous. Deeply sensitive. Family orientated. Helping. But I keep coming back to loving. I don't think that there is anyone here who could possibly disagree with me. Timmy was nothing less than a respectful gentleman who cared more for others than he ever cared for himself. He was truly selfless. At the core of his heart, he put all others before himself.

However, Timmy fought a battle that changed him. He fought a continuous battle against himself. He became a person that he did not want to be. He lost touch of that selfless, funny, giving person, that we all knew he was; that he knew he was.

This disease turned him into a person that he did not want to be. He was not happy with himself when he was using. He did not like the person he became when the drug entered into him. But he could not control it. He tried his best, but this disease got the best of him. All he ever wanted to do was help others, but he could not do enough to simply help himself.

The best thing that we can do to honor Timmy's memory is to remember the good times that we all had. Growing up, we had so much fun. Whether it was our summers in Hull, or our trips to Myrtle Beach, we had too much fun.

We grew up as very lucky and privileged children. And Timmy and I both knew that. We were very grateful for what we had. We got to take ski trips, vacations to Disney, weekends in York, Maine or Cape Cod, and trips to the Bronx to visit family. Timmy once got the chance to visit me at college, and we had a GREAT time. Too good of a time. And that is a memory that I will forever cherish. Needless to say, we grew up in a healthy and loving household, with a large extended family, that we loved and that loved us. We wanted for nothing. And this is something that I hope my parents and family will forever remember.

Addiction is a terrible sickness. It does not discriminate. It shows no mercy. It can come upon someone within the blink of an eye. And then it creep upon someone over the course of years. There is no definite cause. But there is a definite cure. The only cure to addiction is simply to stop. Just stop. And that will guarantee success. But the part of addiction that is so hard to grasp are the mental and psychological holds that it takes on its victims. Every addict knows what to do in order to beat this disease. The cure is simple. The cure is to stop. But the cure cannot be provided in a hospital or from a pharmacy. And that is what makes addiction a disease unlike anything else. However, I think that the true cures to addiction can be found within. The true cures to addiction are love, support, faith, awareness, and hope.

As I stand here before you today, most of you know that Tim and I had a very strained relationship over the last few years. But it was the addiction that I hated, not my brother. With love, we can keep Tim's memory and spirit alive.

With support, my family and I will overcome this terrible tragedy. With faith, we know that Tim will be smiling down upon us and not longer hurting.

With awareness, we can educate ourselves, friends, and families on the truth behind addiction. And with hope, with just an ounce of hope, anyone struggling with addiction or mental health issues can get the help they need, and beat this nasty disease that took my baby brother's life too soon.

Tim, may you forever rest in peace. You no longer have to fight. Look over us. We love you.

Sincerely, Scott Brady

The Town of Tewksbury always puts on a great Memorial Day Parade

By: MORGAN HAKALA
News Correspondent

TEWKSBURY - Memorial Day is right around the corner, and with that, the unofficial start to summer. The days are getting longer and warmer, school is starting to wind down, and the smells of barbecues fill the air. I have always looked forward to Memorial Day weekend for those exact reasons. All the festivities of the long weekend give me my first taste of summer each year. And, one of my favorite Memorial Day traditions is the annual parade held in town.

For as long as I can remember, the Memorial Day Parade in Tewksbury has been a part of my life. I remember my parents taking me to watch the parade when I was very little. To be honest, I do not exactly remember enjoying the parade at first. The loud noises scared me. The clowns scared me even more. But, I did not let these fears stop me from getting free candy. I was always eager to get as much as possible, usually many tootsie rolls. I can picture exactly where we would sit every single year when I was younger — right across the street from Colonial Drive. There is currently new construction being built there, but for years, it was just an empty area for us to watch the parade.

I joined Girl Scouts when I was in elementary school. One of my favorite parts about belonging to this organization was marching in the parade. It was something I looked forward to every year for about five years. I can still remember the anticipation of arriving at the Ryan School prior to the parade. Everyone was there getting ready and the place was always filled with commotion.

It was always a lot of fun marching down Main Street with all of my friends in my troop. I loved getting to throw candy to people sitting on the side of the street and seeing familiar faces. My mom still sat in our usual spot, while my dad marched in the parade with me.

I remember at least one year while marching, dark clouds had formed and thunder could be heard off in the distance. At this point, my dad and I left my troop and the parade to go home with my mom in order to avoid getting caught in a storm.

I also remember another year, my Girl Scout troop and I attended the ceremony at the Tewksbury Cemetery before the parade began. We said the Pledge of Allegiance during the ceremony. It was really truly special to have been a part of that ceremony, and I enjoyed being able to help pay tribute to the Tewksbury Veterans.

In more recent years, I have enjoyed watching the parade with my parents and grandparents. There have been a few years where I was unable to attend the parade, but I could always count on my grandparents to bring some candy home to me no matter what.

The parade is a great tradition in this town of Tewksbury, and I am so glad that I have been able to enjoy it for all of my life. And, I look forward to enjoying it for many years to come.

Issues on social-emotional factors impacting students and their future

By PAUL ANDREWS
Guest Columnist

A captivating presentation was heard this past week at the Annual Spring Meeting of the School Superintendents in the Commonwealth, as well known author Robert Putnam made his point loud and clear about the differences between rich and poor along with the way neighborhoods change as a result of population revisions and the impact on the shrinking middle class that was covered in last week's column.

The problem

There are many ways you can say this but our country and in fact others are seeing major changes taking place right in front of them as different populations are filling certain pockets of cities with students and families from very different levels of society than present in earlier years making a community rethink their infrastructure, especially educational programs. The changing population of our schools is feeling the impact of this cultural shift, as well as the economy of the city, town or region.

How do you address the issue?

For some of the communities, the schools need to offer higher level advanced placement programs as some of the students come together in a high income community in terms of residents, with students who provide the stimulus for greater in-depth programs by senior year with even college level programs being fit into the school curriculum. Putnam talked about his daughter who currently is taking an educational program in Europe while the girl she grew up with is coping with significant social-emotional issues. Here were two girls, who grew up together, heading towards totally opposite directions.

Some communities have severe pockets of poverty and social-emotional issues that are next to impossible to totally correct. These communities face a huge problem and usually have significant financial stress factors at the municipal level. Remedial education programs become the educational answer to improve test scores but resolving emotional issues with many of the students and families become a huge challenge.

What some communities are doing is bringing together a city or town-wide task force to approach the issues in these communities in developing a strong approach to reach all families and especially those in serious financial and emotional need. While this is a gigantic task, efforts are being made to focus on the needs in this area. There is no choice.

All local officials realize that elevating the positive emotional and educational growth is time consuming and long term but again what choice do we have?

New war on poverty vital

Putnam appears to focus on the fact that we are heading to communities that are either rich or poor with significant consequences for several families who cannot survive in a poor community, that just gets poorer without the stimulus needed both with funding and turnaround community wide efforts.

We need to look at communities in our country that can be saved from disaster by the task force efforts discussed above, and an infusion of funding into communities with leadership under strong control of the state leaders.

While this is a huge political issue to attack, there appears to be no choice as this effort here in Massachusetts is showing success to this point in school districts. Time will tell. Our true battle in this country, that is needed, is a real strong war on poverty. Poorer neighborhoods, lead to poorer communities that lead to a social emotional disaster in the schools, the communities and the nation.

Veterans invited to set sail with schooner Adventure

The Adventure, a schooner vessel docked at Gloucester's Harriet Webster Pier, is offering veterans and their families a chance to take to the sea this Memorial Day.

Departing from the Pier at 2pm, the three-hour expedition is a chance to view Gloucester from a different vantage point, enjoying the sights and sounds of life along its idyllic oceanfront.

The Gloucester Adventure is a 501(c)(3) non-profit maritime historic preservation and education organization. As stewards of the 1926 dory-fishing schooner Adventure, the organization aims to restore and "preserve in perpetuity" the national historic landmark vessel to be enjoyed by future generations. The Adventure is described as one of the last remaining Grand Banks dory-fishing schooner. The organization describes the vessel as a "living monument to the Massachusetts fishing heritage."

To reserve a spot for this special itinerary, contact Director of Veterans' Services Louis Cimaglia IV at 978-694-2040. You may also contact Gloucester City Councilor Melissa Cox at 978-631-9015.

Mine Falls Park A Nashua Gem

By PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent

paige@yourtowncrier.com

Nashua, New Hampshire is a quick trip up Route 3 and a frequent stop for many of us for our retail needs. However, it also boasts a tranquil woodland park tucked in behind South Nashua High School and a busy retail area which you may not know about. Mine Falls Park is a tremendous spot that has both paved and packed earth paths crisscrossing its 325 acres. Two entrances give access points that are suited for different needs. The Lincoln Park entrance, off of Exit 6/Coliseum Avenue is paved and perfect for bikes.

The Mill Pond Fishing access is at Exit 5/Riverside Street near the Conway Ice Arena and has a boat launch and more gravelly trails.

The park is suitable for running and walking and has numerous trail runners and mountain bikers around. It is part of the Nashua Canal Trail system, a 4.9 mile loop. A three mile canal runs through the park and is one of several water features.

The canal was hand-dug in the 1800s to provide water and create a vertical drop to turn the mill wheels near the gatehouse and falls at the park, but the mills are long since gone.

The park's name purportedly comes from a lead ore mining operation that existed on an island. The park is also favored in the winter months by cross country skiers. There are side trails that are more wooded, and a few steep trails that can get your heart pumping. Several of the paths are flat and stroller friendly while others are laced with roots and require more concentration. Even young children on bikes will find the mostly level trails easy to navigate.

There are several wide bridges in the park which add interest. Be sure to see Oxbow Lake which has a nice overlook. You can find a map online to take with you as there are myriad features such as wetland, falls, coves and such.

You likely can't cover the park in one day so head out with the expectation that you will return. Some trails are marked with blazes and others are not. Fear not though, the worst that can happen is you get spit out onto a road in Nashua, safely back in civilization.

The park has an active volunteer community that hosts trail days for cleanup and other preservation activities. A gatehouse project is underway which a local middle school is sponsoring and there are days that it is open to the public for tours. Kayakers, fishing enthusiasts and nature lovers alike find Mine Falls an oasis in an otherwise large city.

There is an abundant wildlife population so it is great for bird watching and animal spying. Fish are visible in the canal as are turtles, muskrats and other woodland creatures. If you like geocaching and letterboxing, there are enough there to keep you all afternoon. The Nashua River and Mill Pond are fine for fishing but due to the water's pollution history, catch and release is advised.

The river has been restored quite a bit, but it has a way to go, and fertilizer runoff issues have also contributed to slowing its recovery. That said, the abundant critter population is a testament to the stability of the habitat.

Set aside some time this summer to walk among the pines and get back to nature just a short trip away. <http://www.nashuanh.gov/491/Mine-Falls-Park>.

Artist Profile

Michelle Mello

PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent

paige@yourtowncrier.com

Artist Michelle Mello participated in the Tewksbury Switch Box art project last year, part of the Beautification Committee's ongoing efforts to improve the look of the town. Her box, located at the confluence of Chandler and East Streets, in front of the Tewksbury State Hospital, depicts an airplane which pays homage to the old Tew-Mac Airport. The airport, on land now occupied by the Tewksbury Country Club on Route 38, was originally recognized as an airfield in 1951. The airstrip was a single, unpaved runway.

According to historical accounts, the name Tew-Mac came from the town name of Tewksbury and the original name of the owner of the land, Arthur MacLaren. By 1971, the airport had two paved runways.

The Tew-Mac emblem that photographs of the airport as my inspiration. I experimented to see if I could create the experience of the whole plane from every angle. I am pleased with the result.

Are you an artist by trade or is art your hobby?

I am an artist by training and enjoy it as a hobby. I'm graduating in May from Massachusetts College of Art and Design with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in animation. My studies required multiple types of media including sculpture, drawing, and painting. Outside of school, I enjoy creating art just for fun. It's more of a lifestyle than anything. I look forward to finding a job in my field.

What were some specific challenges you discovered while working on this project?

I did not anticipate how large the box would be. When you're finally standing in front of it is when you realize how large of a project it is. Another obstacle living in New England is the crazy weather you have to deal with. You could plan a fun filled day of painting with a projected sunny forecast the day before and the next morning you wake up to rain.

What does it mean to you to be able to contribute to a public art project in Tewksbury and would you encourage others?

I think it's very important for the community to be involved in keeping our environment colorful and diverse. Art can be so inspiring and I know a lot of people love to see it. I received so much positive feedback while working on my project. The people were inspiring to me with their appreciation. It's nice to know I'm brightening someone's day every day when they drive by my artwork.

How long have you lived in Tewksbury and have you been involved in other ways in the town? Can you share some profile information?

I have lived in Tewksbury almost all of my life. I learned about this project through Enterprise bank. The bank is so involved in the community and it was so wonderful working for them. I have since moved on to finish my studies and teach yoga. I have launched my own website www.mellomade.com. My films are under the Portfolio Animation tab. I am excited to start my career and focus on my art.

Meehan, Wink of B.S. Troop 322 attain rank of Eagle

By LARZ F. NEILSON

News Correspondent

office@yourtowncrier.com

TEWKSBURY -- Two Tewksbury Boy Scouts were honored on Sunday at an Eagle Court of Honor at the Elks Hall. The ceremonies also included presentation of a Medal of Merit for lifesaving.

To qualify for Eagle, a Scout must complete a project of his own choosing. The project must be of benefit to the community, and the scout must enlist others to work on the project, as well.

Stephen Wink undertook a project right in the Elks' back yard, building ten handicapped accessible picnic tables for the Elks Grove picnic area.

Wink was quite surprised to also receive a Medal of Merit for saving the life of a friend at a pool party during his freshman year. He had found the boy on the bottom of the pool, pulled him out and cleared his windpipe while others applied resuscitation. He had not applied for the medal, but others put in for him, and it was voted by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Christopher Meehan had completed his Eagle project about two years ago, but wanted to share the Court of Honor with another scout. That became possible this year, when Wink completed his Eagle project in February.

Meehan, who studied masonry at Shawsheen Tech, crafted a monument to Dexter Bailey, a Tewksbury soldier killed in World War I. The project entailed researching history, working with town officials, veterans groups, and fellow Tech masonry students. They prepped a site for the monument at North and Andover streets. The finished monument, all two tons of it, then had to be moved to the site.

"The day couldn't have gone any better," said Mary Meehan, Christopher's mother.

Both young men went through the entire Scouting program in Troop 322, sponsored by the Tewksbury/Wilmington Lodge of Elks.

Mary Meehan put the Eagle Scout Pin on her son, Christopher, during his Eagle Scout Court of Honor on Sunday. The event was held at the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks.

Christopher Meehan was recognized by State Representative James Miceli and the State of Massachusetts for achieving rank of Eagle Scout during his Court of Honor on Sunday.

Boy Scout Troop 322, sponsored by the Benevolent and Protective order of Elks 2070 Tewksbury/Wilmington celebrated the Eagle Scout Court of Honor for Christopher Meehan and Steven Wink on Sunday afternoon.

(All photos by Maureen Brady)

Dawn Wink pinned the Eagle Scout Pin on her son, Steven, during his Eagle Scout Court of Honor on Sunday.

Paul Gendreau from the Spirit of Adventure Council for Boy Scouts pinned the Medal of Merit Award on Steven Wink during his Eagle Scout Court of Honor Ceremony. Steven received this Medal of Honor for saving a boy's life a few years ago.

Committee targets major milestone this year

Relay for Life returns to high school location

by SHERYL WALSH

News Correspondent

sheryl@yourtowncrier.com

WILMINGTON - The town's annual American Cancer Society Relay for Life is returning to its original location at the High School. This year's Relay will be held June 17th at 5:30 p.m. The event began here in 2009 and so far has raised $925,890 to fight back against cancer. This could be the year they top the $1 Million dollar mark. During construction of the new high school, the event was held at Shawsheen Technical and the Middle School.

Joe Martiniello, the Wilmington resident who serves as the event organizer, brought the Relay to town seven years ago after he attended a Relay event in another area.

"I thought, 'Hey this is amazing,'" he explains, thinking, "We could do this in Wilmington." And the rest is history.

That first Relay did make history. Wilmington's inaugural event was named "2009 American Cancer Society New England Division # 1 New Community Relay. What's more, as part of Middlesex county, the team was also recognized because together the relays of Middlesex won #1 Per Capita Award Nationwide.

In 2009, over 700 community members on 62 teams raised more than $162,000 to support the American Cancer Society mission to save lives and to help people get well and stay well. Martiniello, learned that the amount raised was not only the largest by a new Relay that year, but the largest by any new community in recent history.

"There was a little bit of research done, back about 5-6 years I think, and at that point, there had been none higher," he says.

Martiniello attributes the success to the people and sponsors who pulled together to make it all happen and happen big.

"I feel so blessed to be part of such an incredible opportunity and to work with the many Wilmington residents and businesses that made that first year's event and every one since then such a rewarding experience for everyone involved."

Relay for Life is a family-fun event with food, entertainment, and activities. Teams of people camp out. Each team has a representative walking around the track at all times during the event because cancer never sleeps. That's the core of the Relay idea.

Music, costumes and decorations set the mood. After opening remarks, a special ceremony honors cancer survivors. Several other ceremonies take place as well.

The Wilmington community and participants from other nearby towns are busy pulling together and counting down to the main event which is just a few weeks away. Two teams have already reached recognized special status, Sole Sistas (led by Jenn Kwiatkowski and Karen Garbowski) and We Hate Cancer (led by Anna Lam). Tom Barry and Anna Lam have also been recognized as top individual fundraisers.

One way anyone can participate is to donate and "buy" a luminaria bag. Small white bags are decorated either by the person donating or by volunteers. Candles are set inside each one and then during the Relay event, they are lit in honor or memory to loved ones. The lighting ceremony sends a message of hope and remembrance. It is often described as the most meaningful part of the evening. Bags can be dedicated on-line.

Relay is open to the public whether they have a team or just want to come for the festivities. For more information, please contact Julie Rauseo at 781-314-2668 or at Julie.Rauseo@cancer.org.

Tewksbury resident faces probation after four counts of firearm possession

By BRENDAN FOLEY
News Correspondent

brendanmfoley@outlook.com

TEWKSBURY - Roland C. Moore of Tewksbury admitted to four counts of charges of possession of a firearm without a firearms identification card and three counts of possession of ammunition without an FID card.

Moore was placed on two years' probation and ordered to attend mental health counseling.

Moore's case attracted attention in December when Moore, a suspended IRS employee, was arrested at his home while wearing a tinfoil hat.

The incident occurred on December 9 when Inspector Edmund Jacobs of Homeland Security contacted Tewksbury police about a follow-up investigation of Moore. Moore, an accounts manager in the ID theft unit of the IRS, Moore had been taking meetings with IRS officials and a psychiatrist to discuss undisclosed mental health issues.

At that time, Moore admitted to having firearms in his home. He was then transported to a hospital for evaluation.

Further inspection by Homeland Security revealed that Moore had three firearms registered to his name, but his license had been suspended by Mansfield police in 2009 following an assault charge. The assault charge was eventually dismissed, but Moore's license remained suspended at the time of Homeland Security's inquiries.

Upon searching Moore's home, officers discovered a bolt action hunting rifle, a .22LR target pistol, and a Smith and Wesson revolver. The pistol and revolver were loaded.

Under the terms set by Judge Michael Brooks, Moore's case will continue without a finding for two years. During this time, Moore will be on probation. He is prohibited from having any firearms or ammunition and must continue with mental health counseling and medication.

Moore is also under a no-trespass order at the IRS.

If Moore can serve out the two years with no further legal problems, his case will be dismissed.

Personal attacks de rigueur for Board of Selectmen

'threatened.' Let's make believe that word doesn't exist. The town manager (sic) did admit that his relationship was 'strained' with two members of the board and that he was never threatened. Mike Champoux said that he wouldn't want to use the word threatened, but rather suggested that the town manager was instead 'pressured' by a couple of members of the board.

In their initial replies to McCoy, Champoux and O'Connell strained to keep their statements within the realm of polite discourse.

But former Selectman Mike Newhouse was in attendance and he made no efforts to curb his clear fury with McCoy and the accusations levelled at him. Along with his grievances over the accusation itself, Newhouse claimed that he attended Town Meeting with his wife, child, and a client, and all were stunned and humiliated when McCoy made his accusations. Newhouse referred to McCoy's actions as a "Pearl Harbor attack."

"Quite frankly I think it's ridiculous," Newhouse said. "It's outrageous what you tried to use that forum for."

Newhouse dredged up years of bitter struggles, he and McCoy going back in forth in a he-said/he-said argument ranging over zoning disputes to the employment of former Town Manager Michael Cairns (brother to current Selectman Kevin. McCoy repeatedly broke off the debate to sing the praises of Michael directly to Kevin).

When they next spoke, it was clear that Champoux and O'Connell were fed up. They were fed up with the debate, fed up with the accusations, fed up with spending time on the issue. Seated next to McCoy, Champoux could be seen rolling his eyes and making expressions of disgust, anger and exasperation as McCoy read his statements and argued with Newhouse and O'Connell.

Champoux, O'Connell, and Newhouse all opined that McCoy took no action on his concerns at any time during the year since the financial committee disputes, and all three either suggested, or flat-out stated, that McCoy was making a public spectacle for the purposes of re-election when his term is up in the spring of 2017.

"Every few years it feels like you work towards painting yourself as the contrarian or the outsider," Champoux said to McCoy. "Every three years, it always coincides with your election year."

Champoux mentioned that McCoy had recently described the financial committee appointment debates in the summer of 2015 as a "dog and pony show," a charge that Champoux denied. Per Champoux, those debates were necessary, if painful, to correct the appointment process.

"What's happening here tonight is, because of you, a dog and pony show," Champoux said. "And it's a dog and pony show for your political gains. I believe that to my core."

Champoux expressed the belief that while running for office is a matter of politics, the actual work done at the table in Town Hall is meant to be government, and the two are starkly divisible.

"When you are sitting up here, it is politics," McCoy shot back.

Town Manager Jeffery Hull remained silent throughout the nearly hour-long argument. He spoke once, briefly, at the beginning of the discussion.

"There is no question that it was probably visible during 2015 that relations with members of the board were strained," Hull said. "The relationships are back on track and I have nothing more to add."

At Town Meeting and the May 9 meeting, Hull maintained that his employment had never been threatened by any member of the Board of Selectmen.

"Town Manager Hull requested an additional eight months of pay under the category of termination, should he suddenly be determined," McCoy stated. "I'll let the voters and tax payers come to their own conclusion."

Newly elected Selectman Gregory Bendel remained silent throughout the debate. He spoke up only once, to end it.

"I ran for the Board to volunteer to help the residents of the town," Bendel said. "I just don't see how this is helping anyone here today. I am looking forward to moving on."

The rest of the meeting proceeded without incident.

Routine stop proves deadly for area officer

Tewksbury resident, told the Associated Press. "He was our first born. His kids are older but they are still going to grow up without their father, and Tricia [Ronald's wife] without her husband."

Mass displays of grief and honor have risen up in the wake of Tarentino's death, with large crowds gathering for memorial services. A huge outpouring of citizens waited in informal vigil for Tarentino's body to arrive at the funeral home in Leicester.

"Words can not adequately express our Department's appreciation for the outpouring of support that we have received after the tragic loss of Officer Tarentino," read the official Facebook message from the Auburn Police Department.

Tarentino is the second police officer in Massachusetts to be killed while on duty this year.

"I just wish people had a little bit more respect for what they do — nobody has respect for them anymore," Sharon Tarentino told the Boston Herald, referring to police officers.

Officials said that Tarentino was shot in the back. Chief Andrew Sluckis Jr. said Tuesday that Zambrano got off five shots and Tarentino did not return fire.

Sluckis says one bullet struck Tarentino's body armor, while one .45 caliber bullet entered the space between his gun belt and his bulletproof vest on the lower left of his back.

A memorial now decorates the scene of the crime, flowers and flags painting the side of the road.

Schools and other municipal buildings across the state flew flags at half-mast in memory of Tarentino.

Bridges in Worcester and Shrewsbury illuminated the night with blue lights in tribute to Tarentino's sacrifice.

"In the days, months and years ahead, the Auburn Police Department will continue to support the Tarentino family in every way possible," Auburn Police Chief Andrew Sluckis said. "I ask the public to keep them in your prayers tonight and every night."

First shock "critical factor" in rescue WPD officers, firefighters save heart attack victim

By FRED NEILSON
News Correspondent

If you're going to have a heart attack, it might be good luck to have it where help is close at hand.

Fast response to a 911 call saved the life of a woman last Tuesday morning at the Leonardo Physical Therapy clinic in Wilmington. The 52-year old woman from Lowell suffered a heart attack at 11:20 a.m.

Officer Joseph Harris had been at the corner of Lowell and Main streets, only a couple of minutes away, when the call was received. Officer Matt Stavro was right behind him as they arrived at 230 Lowell St.

Even before clinic personnel could begin CPR, the two officers walked in. "I can't believe you got here so quick," Harris quoted one of the women at the clinic as saying.

The officers found the woman unresponsive, not breathing and with no pulse. Stavro immediately began CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation.) Harris applied the patches for an AED (Automated External Defibrillator.) The device said "shock advised" just as the Fire Department EMTs arrived, along with a paramedic.

Firefighters Bob Woods, Mike Rideout, Gary Murphy and Chris Elliott took over and applied the Lucas auto-compressive therapy. A paramedic administered drugs and changed the AED patches, using patches that provided information. Then he administered a second shock, restoring her heartbeat.

"When her heartbeat came back, it was just an awesome feeling," said Harris.

The prompt administering of the first shock was probably the critical factor in saving the woman's life, said Fire Lt. Joe McMahon, quoting a paramedic. Every minute is critical.

The woman was transported to the Mass. General Hospital, where she is reported to be doing extremely well. The patient, it turned out, is a friend of Mrs. Stavro.

It was one of those times when everything came together and there was a nice outcome, said McMahon.

"We wish they all were like that," said Bob Richter, deputy chief of police.

Palermo realizes dream as he graduates from Endicott and receives commission

By KRISTA BRESNAHAN
News Correspondent
krista@yourtowncrier.com

WILMINGTON — What some would regard as the successful conclusion of a long journey is just the beginning for one Wilmington resident. After four years of hard work and determination, Endicott College senior and ROTC member Matthew Palermo has achieved a dream, completing the Criminal Justice program there, along with a minor in Security Studies.

Palermo turned his tassel in a ceremony on May 21st, graduating summa cum laude and being honored as one of five recipients of Endicott College's Presidential Award.

"What comes next is going to be an experience like no other," said Palermo.

Fresh from graduation, Palermo will attend the Infantry Basic Officer Leadership course in Fort Benning, Georgia, with a follow up assignment at Fort Bragg in North Carolina, home of the 82nd Airborne Division.

"The past four years I have been working hard to accomplish my dream, and now that the four years are over and I learned everything I could have wanted, such as component, branch, and duty station, it is a weird feeling," he admitted.

His journey toward military service began even before his road to a college education; Palermo enlisted with the Massachusetts Army National Guard July 24, 2012, before beginning at Endicott College in the fall to study Criminal Justice, and joining ROTC.

Palermo thought long and hard about becoming an officer, coming to the conclusion that if he were to become an officer one day, it was important for him to attend Basic Training to understand what his future soldiers would have to endure.

In spring of 2013, Palermo attended Basic Training down in Fort Benning, Georgia as an enlisted soldier. He went through the intensive training, successfully completing Infantry One Station Unit Training (OSUT) in August of 2013.

During his sophomore year at Endicott, Palermo enrolled in the simultaneous membership program between National Guard and ROTC. During this time, he also became a member of the Massachusetts Honor Guard and performed military honors at funerals and other ceremonial events.

Throughout his four years of college, Palermo performed his monthly drills for the National Guard, participated in all ROTC training events, was an active member of the Honor Guard, was inducted into two National Honor Societies, earned his Air Assault wings from Sabalauski Air Assault School, and received many other school and ROTC awards.

Palermo has enjoyed strong support from his family and loved ones during his time in school and in training. His parents, Justine and Stephen Palermo, said of his future plans, "Matthew always gives 110% when he puts his mind to something. We have no doubts that he will be very successful in his military career," adding, "In fact, he has already started the conversation about obtaining his Master's degree to ensure he has the credentials of moving up the military ranks."

Palermo has a strong role model for his career pursuits, according to his parents. "Matthew is very passionate about the military, following in his deceased grandfather's footsteps, and plans on making it a life-long career. We, along with his sister, Samantha, and his girlfriend, Delaney, could not be any prouder and we will be here to support him every step of the way."

Palermo graduated as a Distinguished Military Graduate, commissioning as an Infantry Officer in the rank of 2nd Lieutenant, on Friday, May 20th. The Ceremony took place by the water on the Endicott campus, Palermo joining four fellow officers being commissioned from Endicott on this day. Palermo was sworn in and took the Oath of Commissioned Officers, as well as his parents each getting to put on one of his shoulder boards indicating that he is now an officer.

Former United States Army Sergeant Lou Cimaglia, Wilmington's Veteran's Agent, attended the ceremony and was Palermo's first salute. Palermo first met Cimaglia in September of 2008 when the Vietnam Moving Wall came to Wilmington. At that time, Palermo volunteered countless hours over the three-day event to guard the memorial wall. From there, he and Cimaglia formed an unbreakable friendship over the next eight years, Palermo knowing he could always count on Cimaglia for advice, support, or just someone to listen.

"I don't really know what my future holds other than there will be challenges I have never experienced before, but I feel very prepared to face them," said Palermo.

One thing I do know is that I have an amazing family and girlfriend that support me, which makes everything a lot easier. I look forward to joining the ranks of the 82nd Airborne Division and leading paratroopers into combat. Airborne, all the way!"

Stephen and Justine Palermo placed the shoulder boards representing the rank of 2nd Lieutenant on their son Matt during Endicott College's Reserve Officers' Training Corps Commissioning Ceremony on Friday, May 20th.

Tarentino remembered as 'good guy'

circumstances. He was just a really nice guy, and a gentle giant of sorts."

Tarentino graduated from Tewksbury Memorial High School in 1991. Decorated in the number 32, he served as co-captain of the basketball team during his senior year. Again and again, Tarentino came up big for his team. Scoring 23 points in a win against Dracut, and 15 points, 17 rebounds and 11 blocks for a win over Greater Lowell. Even in losing efforts, Tarentino was dependable, notching 13 points in a Christmas Tournament loss to Wilmington.

Charlie Micol was the head coach of the team that year, and even 25 years later it was clear that Tarentino had made a lasting impression.

"He was a great player," Micol said. "He was a big man who loved the game, loved his teammates. He was a fun kid to coach and a funny kid. He worked hard and got along with everyone. He was a great kid, and this is very sad."

After graduation, Tarentino followed his father into law enforcement. Residents of Leicester (where Tarentino worked for seven years) and Auburn (where he worked for two years prior to his death) expressed tremendous sadness at the loss of such an officer, pouring out into candlelit vigils and memorial displays.

Along with his duties to the police department and his family, Tarentino was a member of the Auburn Elks, the Mustangs of Massachusetts, and was noted as an avid outdoorsman with a fondness for archery, hunting and fishing.

"He was a good leader," Micol said. "Everyone really liked him. He was just a good guy."

Wilmington High junior catcher Shannon Horgan has had a sensational year for the Varsity Softball team both offensively and defensively. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Horgan providing a big stick for the Lady Wildcats

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
WILMINGTON -- The Wilmington High School Softball team is red-hot. The team has won 11-of-their-last 13 games, including a huge 4-0 win over the first place Burlington Red Devils at home on Friday night.

In the mix of the winning ways is junior catcher Shannon Horgan, who in the last three wins over Stoneham, Burlington and Lawrence on Monday night, has combined for seven hits including a home run, two triples, two doubles, two singles and has knocked in nine runs, while also walking once.

"Shannon has hit five or six home runs this year," said head coach Audrey Cabral-Pini. "She hit her last one over the fence in Stoneham -- easily 250-feet. The fence is 210 feet and she hit well past the fence. The kids went out and got the ball. She's been hitting the ball really well. She hits the ball so hard every time she makes contact. Even when she misses she (swings) it hard.

"She has so much speed and power. We haven't had a hitter like this since Brittney McLaughlin. Shannon is also very fast. Teams always have courtesy runners for their catchers and we don't because she is very fast."

On Friday, Cabral-Pini had to shuffle up her line-up with the absence of lead-off hitter Jen Dovidio (off to a prom). So Dan Goulet was moved to No. 1 and Horgan, who usually bats third, was moved up to No. 2.

All the two of them did was combined for five hits, including a double, a triple, while knocking in three runs, scoring two more and adding a walk -- all against the first place team in the division.

While the stats are nice, the outcome is even better. The 4-0 win pushed Wilmington into the state tournament for the second straight year.

"It's probably the best feeling in the world right now, honestly," said Horgan. "We have worked so hard for it so I can't even describe it or put it into words. We did last year, so to do it again this year is just so awesome. It just shows the improvement and the hard work that all of us have been doing in practices everyday and just doing our best."

Horgan has always been able to hit. Defensively she has improved leaps and bounds this season. Today she is much better at blocking pitches in the dirt, sliding her legs to both sides of the plate to block balls in the dirt and keeping the ball in front of her, and especially throwing out potential base stealers.

"We have worked a lot with her defensively," said

Cabral-Pini. "We needed to work on her footwork, plus her release. She was throwing the ball from behind her ear, so we taught her to be like a 'dart thrower'. Shannon is much stronger now so that helps. She has taken control on the defensive bunts and improved so much in that area."

Defensively on Friday, Horgan caught three pop ups, threw out a batter at first who on a bunt, and oh yeah caught seven shut out innings by freshman pitcher Ally Moran.

Horgan said the team's mindset from the first pitch of the game to the very last one is the sole reason for the victory.

"Today everyone's heads were in the game right from the start and through until the end. Sometimes that's not the case but today everyone was in it and that's why we won," she said.

O'Flaherty's .382 clip igniting Rams Baseball team

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA -- For the past three seasons the Shawsheen Tech Baseball team has been on a remarkable run that has seen them win two consecutive CAC titles, with a third still a possibility this season. There have been many reasons for the Rams success over the past three seasons and many great players have come and gone, but there have been few bigger contributors to the Rams great run than the player who has been at the top of their lineup every game for the past three seasons.

Shawsheen senior second baseman Brendan O'Flaherty has been a stabilizing force for the Rams atop their lineup since being plugged into the high pressure role in his sophomore season, and now, as his spectacular career with the Rams is winding down, the Wilmington native is in the midst of an incredible senior season, putting up tremendous individual numbers while leading the Rams to even more team success.

"Senior year has just been great," said O'Flaherty. "I love all my teammates and we have been battling together and winning. We have been getting great pitching and we have a great lineup. I know when I get on base, my teammates can bring me around to score."

And O'Flaherty has been getting on base plenty this year, with a .382 batting average, a .514 on base percentage and 23 runs scored. He has also driven in an impressive 13 runs from his leadoff position.

Shawsheen coach Brian McCarthy, who made the decision to put the young speedster at the top of the lineup during his sophomore season, has been pleased, but not at all surprised with what he has seen from O'Flaherty this season.

"Brendan settled into the lead-off spot for us just into the start of his sophomore year. It's a tough spot in the lineup for a young player, but he took on the challenge with determination and hasn't looked back since," McCarthy said. "He does exactly what a leadoff hitter is supposed to do. He sees a lot of pitches, works the pitcher, gets on base a ton and scores a boat load of runs for us. And this year, he's added some considerable power to his offensive game. So with our more balanced lineup, guys at the bottom of the order are getting on, and Brendan has been driving them in.

"It's rare to see a leadoff hitter lead the team in all those offensive categories, but Brendan either leads or is in top two of all major categories including RBI's. That's rare and exciting to see."

O'Flaherty has embraced his role as the Rams table setter for the past three seasons, but acknowledges that setting the table wouldn't do much good if he did not have a remarkable group of teammates to rely on to follow him.

"I like batting leadoff. Coach Mac has had me there for three years and it is something I definitely enjoy," O'Flaherty said. "There is a little pressure to get on, but one you do get on it is a lot of fun, because you can steal, or just mess with the pitcher's mind a little. And with our lineup, I have a lot of confidence in what they can do."

While McCarthy has certainly appreciated what O'Flaherty has brought to the team for the past three years, O'Flaherty can't say enough about what McCarthy and assistant coach Jeff Paquette have meant to his career, resulting in what has been a career year in his senior season.

"With three years playing on the varsity I have gained a ton of experience and coach Mac and coach Paquette have taught me so much," O'Flaherty said. "It's been awesome playing for them, winning two CAC titles and making two straight tournament runs. They make us work hard in practice, and we see that all of the hard work is worth it with the way we have been winning."

McCarthy for his part knows that O'Flaherty will be ready for any challenge that he puts in front of him, because as hard as McCarthy might work his players, O'Flaherty has already put in at least as much work on his own. And while the Rams have a tradition of not naming team captains, O'Flaherty has emerged as a team leader, even on a team loaded with eight seniors.

Girls Lacrosse squad ends disappointing season

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WILMINGTON -- At the start of the season, new Wilmington High Girls Lacrosse coach Ashley Kelley was confident that she had a tournament team on her hands, seeing the hard work that her team was putting in during preseason practices.

Unfortunately things did not work out that way for the Wildcats, as struggled to a 1-15 record on the campaign, capped off by Tuesday afternoon's 16-9 loss to non-league rival Tewksbury in the team's season finale.

But while the season did not go the way Kelley would have liked or expected in terms of win and losses, one thing that certainly did not disappoint her was the continued effort of her team throughout the season, regardless of their record.

"I was not happy with our record, but when I think of the beginning of the season and then I see them now, it is completely different," Kelley said. "As a coach that makes me happy. Spectators might not see it, and even the players might not see it, but working with them every day I saw it."

"I told them from the beginning, just try, and we won't have any issues and they did that all year long. It's hard to get mad at them when we lose to a much better team, as long as they are giving their best effort."

That held true for the Wildcats in many of their games this season, including the season finale with Tewksbury, where Kelley felt like her team gave her everything they had one final time.

"They played great. We lost the game, but I was really happy with them for the way they played," Kelley said. "Tewksbury is a very good team, and I thought we did a good job against them."

The Wildcats, who trailed 7-3 at the half, were led by three goals from sophomore attack Lauren D'Angelo, while senior tri-captain Moesha Beray added two goals of her own, and Danielle Silva, Sam Grasso, Bridget Sullivan and Siobhan Scanlon each added single tallies.

Senior goalie Emily Loud wrapped up her Wildcats career with a fine performance in net, making several outstanding saves despite the loss.

"She played unbelievable in net today," Kelley said. "She was excellent in her last game. She is just a completely different goalie, and she just stepped up for us all year long and then did a great job in her last game."

Loud was by far not the only senior playing in her final game for the Wildcats, as 13 players wrapped up their careers, on Monday. The seniors who closed out their careers were Loud, Stephanie Santini, Christina Natola, Lily Keating, Ashley Warren, Brianna Coccoluto, Meghan Rhind, Alexa Peroni, Maeve Sullivan, Julia Pham, Moesha Beray, Bridget Sullivan and Siobhan Scanlon.

Some may have seen more playing time than others this season, but all of them very important to Kelley, particularly in her first year as head coach.

"They were all just really, really helpful. They wanted to try new things this year and they stayed really positive all season long. I would not have wanted a different group of 13. I will miss all 13 of them. They were friends with each other, but more importantly they were friends with everyone on the team and did a great job leading the younger players."

The hard part for Kelley will now be replacing all of those senior heading into next season. But with a talented group of young players returning to the fold next season, including Morgan DiBenedetto, Olivia Carpenito and Lauren D'Angelo, Kelley is confident her team can succeed next season.

"I watched them all get so much better all season long, so looking ahead I feel like we can do well," Kelley said. "We have a lot of holes to fill with losing so many talented kids, but I do have a lot of awesome kids coming back next year who have watched and learned from this great group of seniors."

Softball team's red-hot streak continues right into state tournament qualification

By JAMIE POTE & MIKE IPPOLITO

WILMINGTON - A year after qualifying for the state tournament with mostly underclassmen and for the first time since the 2011 season, Wilmington High School Girls Softball Coach Audrey Cabral-Pini made sure that before this season started that the vast majority of returning players would think qualifying again would be automatic, or a snap of the fingers.

So when this season started off with an 0-3 record, it appeared as if the Wildcats were taking a few steps back from getting back into really competing every night with the best of them. But after that slow start, it seemed like the team just clicked their fingers and started to win.

On Friday night, the 'Cats celebrated the program's biggest win in probably four or five years. Wilmington hosted the Middlesex League Freedom Division first place squad of Burlington and came away with a 4-0 victory. Last year Burlington beat Wilmington 14-2 and the year before that 25-1.

That win also automatically put Wilmington back into the state tournament for the second straight year, the last time that happened was three years in a row from 2010-12.

"We have had three or four games where we got good pitching but struggled in the other areas but today we got great pitching, the defense was excellent and we did very well with the bats," said Cabral-Pini. "We stopped their small ball (of bunts) and Liz Gordon made that face plant diving catch which was great. We just came to play. To qualify here today against this team is really good for us."

Even with the loss, it seems like Burlington is still a frontrunner to win the ML Freedom Division Championship, now with an overall record of 12-4 but three losses in the league. The Wildcats have five league losses and have two league games left with Arlington and then Burlington again.

This win for the Wildcats was gigantic for several reasons. First the team beat the first-place opponent, they did it without their lead-off hitter and most experience player Jenn Dovidio (off to a prom), and the 'Cats did it behind the pitching of freshman Ally Moran, who tossed a four-hit shutout, while walking two and striking out six.

Moran was helped out by very solid defense - including an error free game, while catcher Shannon Horgan recorded four outs and second baseman Liz Gordon made a great diving catch going to her left with one out and the bases empty in the top of the seventh. "Thursday at practice all we did was infield, infield and infield (defensive drills) and today we didn't need that much infield defense because Ally was awesome," said shortstop Dana Goulet.

It was Goulet who got it all going. After Moran gave up a two-out harmless single in the top of the first to keep Burlington off the board, Goulet sent an 0-2 pitch to right center field for a lead-off triple to begin things in the bottom of the first.

"(Burlington's pitcher Kaitlyn Campbell) gave me a really good change-up (the pitch before) and I just watched it (go by me) and I was like 'wow that was a really good pitch'. That put two strikes on me and then the third pitch I fouled it off," described Goulet. "Then the last pitch, I got a piece of it and I really didn't look (to see where the ball went)."

The ball was smashed to the right center gap and Goulet easily made it to third base.

"I've never hit lead-off and did today because Jenn is not here. It's big shoes to fill. Usually in games we don't hit well right away and we get into slumps, but to start off today like we did I think just carried us through (the entire seven innings)," said Goulet.

Goulet then scored on a RBI single to left field by Shannon Horgan. Five batters later she scored on a RBI single up the middle by Gordon, making it 2-0.

Moran then retired all but one batter over the next three innings. Wilmington added single runs in the bottom of the fourth and fifth innings to expand the lead. No. 9 hitter Kayla Bourell led off the bottom of the fourth reaching on an infield single and she would score on a RBI double by Horgan.

Goulet then singled in Gordon with a RBI single in the bottom of the fifth.

Burlington had a runner at third base with one out in the fifth and Moran got a strike-out and a pop up. Then Burlington had the bases loaded with two outs in the sixth but Moran got the last out on a batter looking at the third strike.

"We can beat any team if we play the way we are supposed to play and the way we are capable of playing," said Cabral-Pini. "We saw that today. The big thing today is when Burlington had some runners on base, Ally didn't get frustrated, we didn't get frustrated. If she walked a batter it was OK, instead of getting down. The thing is we can hit and it keeps us in every game because we can hit."

Goulet finished 3-for-4 with a triple, a run scored and a RBI.

"Audrey tells me that I have confidence issues," said Goulet, who a week ago seemed very flustered with her at bats. "It obviously helped today a lot (getting three hits) and plus (Burlington is) a very good team so I knew how tough today was going to be."

Horgan was 2-for-3 with a double, two RBI, a run scored and she drew a walk. Gordon was 2-for-2 with a RBI, a run scored and she also got hit by a pitch.

Last Wednesday, Wilmington trounced Stoneham 15-3. Horgan had a huge game finishing with a home run, triple, single and three RBI, while, Marisa Butler was 2-for-2 and scored her first varsity run. Gianna Burnetto recorded her first varsity hit as well.

On Monday night, Wilmington improved to 11-5 overall with an 11-7 win over Lawrence. Horgan continued her hot bat with a triple, double and four RBI.

Last Thursday, the Wilmington High School Girls Track-and-Field team picked up its first win of the season in the team's final Middlesex League Dual Meet. The Wildcats topped Watertown 79-52, in a make-up meet from an earlier season rain out. The win gives Wilmington a 1-5 final regular season record.

Wilmington won nine of the events on the day including Alexcia Luna taking both the 100 (13.546) and the 200 (27.6) while Jamie Shanning was also a double winner she took the shot put (25-6) and javelin (90-0). Amie Russell also placed in two events winning the discus (73-2) and taking second in the shot put (24-6.50).

The other first places came from Danielle Baldi in the long jump (14-2), Lailoo Perriello in the triple jump (26-1.50), Abigail Genther in the two mile (13:32.5) and the 4x400 relay team (names and time not available).

Other double place finishers included Avery Anderson with a second in the discus (68-3) and a third in the 110-meter hurdles (21.7) and Victoria Sheehan with second places in the long jump (13-2) and 200 (28.5).

Finishing with second places included Samantha Pizzi in the 400-meter hurdles (72.9), Emma Garrity in the mile (5:52.9), Heather Niemiec in the javelin (68-0), Jess Lifton in the triple jump (22-4), Julia Gake in the 400 (60.5) and Elisabeth

Olson in the 800 (2:38.2).

Rounding out the scoring with third places included Taeya Peroni in the 400 (67.9), Anna De La Cruz in the 800 (2:42.9) and Annie Romanzo in the two mile (13:59.0).

CORRECTION

In last week's WHS Girls Track-and-Field story, it was written that Alexcia Luna broke the school's record in the 200-meters, and that information was provided by the coaching staff. However, Luna did not break the record. The record still belongs to Jackie Mello, who ran a 26.23 second electronically time at the Division 3 Eastern Mass Meet and earlier that season finished at 25.7 (hand held time) at a league meet against Lynnfield.

BOYS TRACK

The Wildcats also topped Watertown, 81-51, to end the regular season with a 4-2 record.

The trio of Ray Russell, Russell Abbott and Deven Langenfeld led the way as each of them placed in three different individual events. Russell was first in the 800 (2:12.7), second in the 400-meter hurdles (63.0) and third in the javelin (109-10). Abbott was first in the long jump (17-3.50) and third in both the triple jump (35-2) and 200 (24.4). And Langenfeld was first in the 110-meter hurdles (17.2) and second in both the long jump (16-9.50) and triple jump (37-4).

The three of them combined to score 27 of the team's 81 points.

Kyle Nelson was a double-winner taking the shot put (44-7) and discus (111-5).

Also the 4x100 relay team remained perfect on the season taking this race at 44.4 seconds behind the efforts of Evan Sperlinga, Brad Aldrich, Steve Godfrey and Joe Gaudreau. Gaudreau also won the 200 (22.8), Sperlinga won the 100 (11.5) and Godfrey was third in the 400 (53.9).

Those five athletes, counting Nelson, accounted for 26 additional team points.

The other first place finishes came from Tayton Kennedy in the javelin (117-9), Chris Patrone in the high jump (5-5) and Dan Judkins in the 400-meter hurdles (62.6). Second places came from Nick Gorham in the shot put (37-1.50), Ben Packer in the two mile (11:42.7) and Justin Ekstrom in the mile (5:09.9).

Finally third places were earned by Vincent De La Cruz in the 2 mile (12:02), Ryan Williams in the 110-meter hurdles (19.2), Aditya Gautham in the mile (5:16.3) and DJ Kenney in the 800 (2:15.3).

LEAGUE ALL-STARS

The Middlesex League announced its league all-stars in boys track. The honorees include: Chris Patrone in the high jump; Deven Langenfeld in the triple jump and 110 meter hurdles; Kyle Nelson in the shot put, the four members of the 4x100 relay team including Joe Gaudreau, Steve Godfrey, Brad Aldrich and Evan Sperlinga. Also Gaudreau was named an all-star in the 200 and Sperlinga in the 100.

BOYS LACROSSE

With two losses this past week, the Wilmington High Boys Lacrosse team saw their record on the season drop to 1-14, with just one game left in the season, as they will wrap up their campaign on Wednesday with a game against arch rival Tewksbury.

This past week saw the Wildcats drop a 12-6 decision to Lynnfield on Wednesday before losing 17-9 to Burlington on Friday.

In the loss to Burlington, the Wildcats were led by goals by sophomore midfielder Tyler Roberts, junior midfielder Tyler DeJesus,

"I thought we played pretty well," Wilmington coach Fran Peters said. "We had the lead early and then we got within one later in the game. But they started to win a lot of faceoffs and get some fast breaks and got some late goals. Really the game was closer than the score would indicate."

It was a similar situation for the Wildcats in their 12-6 loss to Lynnfield, as they played well, but just not well enough to get the win against their talented opponents. Roberts, Walsh, Lord and Sullivan were among the goal scorers for the Wildcats.

"We played ok. It was one of those things that has sort of haunted us all season where we were inconsistent," Peters said. "It was like the Burlington game. We were up 2-0 at one point at the start of the game but we had some letdowns and some bad penalties that really cost us."

Some of that inconsistency for the Wildcats certainly came from being such an inexperienced squad, with only three seniors on the entire team. Still, Peters feels that the young and inexperienced squad did get better as the season went along.

"The team definitely did improve as the year went on," Peters said. "We are really young. I was starting a sophomore and a freshman attack, two sophomores and a junior at mid-field and two juniors and a sophomore on defense, not to mention two juniors in goal."

"We had a lot of kids who were still learning how to play lacrosse, but as the season progressed they learned a little more," Peters said. "I liked the way the team was starting to go near the end of the season. The Burlington coach came up to me at the end of the game and was telling me that he thought our kids played with a lot of heart and were a bunch of scrappy kids. We were in a lot of games, but we just have to learn how to win."

Three Wildcats who did not lack in experience this season were senior tri-captains Charlie Minghella, Patrick Dunfee and Cole Walsh.

"They were so important to this team," Peters said. "Charlie was a defensive midfielder for us, but at the start of the season we lost our long stick middle and Charlie stepped right in, no questions asked, even though he had never played there before. Patrick did just an outstanding job for us as a defense midfielder and Cole played attack and did a real nice job for us. He started off a little slow, but really picked it up towards the end of the season and scored some big goals or us."

"None of them were very loud kids, but they were all quiet leaders. They worked hard on the field and were leaders by example."

BOYS TENNIS

After winning three straight matches two weeks ago to put themselves in position for a possible state tournament berth, the Wilmington High Boys Tennis team came back to earth a bit this week, losing three out of four matches to drop their record to 6-10 overall and eliminate them from post season contention with just three matches left in their season.

The Wildcats lone win of the week came last Tuesday in a 3-2 win over Middlesex League rival Wakefield in a home match. It was their second consecutive 3-2 win over the Warriors, having beaten them by the same score the day before, and this win was actually the fourth in a row for the Wildcats at the time, giving

Junior Evan Meyers led the way for the Wildcats with a 6-0, 6-3 win while senior captain Mike Gake won by an identical 6-0, 6-3 score in second singles.

"Evan had a real tough match with his opponent the last time he faced him, but this time he just blew him away," Wilmington coach Rob Mailey said. "He got off to a good start and just followed through from there. And Mike's match was not just the identical score, but almost the identical type of match. Mike started off well and played the big points well, and got a big win."

The first doubles team of Ted Miele and Zack Marcinkowski had the other win on the day for the Wildcats, rolling to a 6-2, 6-1 victory, while the second doubles duo of John Le and Zach Ayvazian took a hard fought 6-4, 4-6, 6-1 loss.

The Wildcats winning streak came to an end two days later with a 5-0 loss to a powerhouse Burlington squad, with senior co-captain Quinton Foley probably playing the best match of the day for Wilmington, dropping a 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 decision in third singles.

Another loss followed the next day, this time to non-league opponent Ipswich by a score of 3-2.

Foley was the lone winner in singles play on the day, taking his third singles match by a score of 6-3, 1-6, 6-4. This match would serve as a precursor to another match on Monday when he also won a hard fought three set match against Arlington.

"This was very similar to Monday's match, in the way Quinton played and battled hard all the way through, Mailey said. "As a captain you love to see him playing like that. He sets a good example for the other kids."

The first doubles team of Miele and Marcinkowski had the other win on the day for the Wildcats, continuing what has been a spectacular second half of the season for them, taking their match in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1.

"They have been doing a great job and they played really well in this one, especially Miele," Mailey said. "He played great. They both did really. It is nice to see them keep playing so well."

Wilmington suffered another loss on Monday, dropping a 4-1 decision to Arlington, but despite the loss Mailey felt like this match showed just how far his team has come since the beginning of the season, as the Wildcats lost several close matches to an opponent that has traditionally handed them some lopsided losses over the years.

"This might have been our best effort of the season, even in losing," Mailey said. "We were right on the verge of a major upset. We have never beaten Arlington in all the time I have been here, and even though we weren't able to do it today, I was very proud of our kids."

Foley came through with the only win of the day for the Wildcats, earning a 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 victory in third singles.

"His conditioning and his mental toughness were the difference in the match," Mailey said. "I was very proud of him."

Meyers dropped a tough 7-5, 7-6 decision in first singles, while Gake was nearly as competitive in second singles, dropping a 6-4, 6-4 decision.

Shawsheen Softball team needs to win last two games to qualify for tournament

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA -- The post season might be a possibility after all for the Shawsheen Tech Softball team. With two blowout wins this past week the Lady Rams stretched their winning streak to three games and improved their record on the season 7-9 overall with two games left in the season, both of which they must win in order to qualify for the Division 3 North Tournament.

With wins in both of their final two games against Bishop Fenwick on Thursday and Arlington Catholic on Friday, the Lady Rams will clinch a spot in the tournament.

Shawsheen got their week started last Wednesday with a 12-5 road victory over Notre Dame Academy. The Lady Rams scored three runs in the first and never looked back as they got outstanding efforts up and down the lineup, with six players having at least one RBI, while eight different players had hits.

Senior tri-captain Lauren Barletta helped lead the way on offense, going 2-for-4 on he day, with a pair of RBI's, while sophomore went 3-for-5 and Ari Nicosia of Tewksbury was 2-for-5 with an RBI, and fellow Tewksbury resident Kelsey Kelley was 1-for-2 with two RBI's.

The Lady Rams never looked back after their fast start, extending their lead to 6-1 by the top of the fourth inning. Even when Notre Dame did fight back with four runs in the bottom of the fourth to close within 6-5, Shawsheen bounced back with a single run in the fifth inning, followed by five more runs in the sixth and seventh combined for the blowout win.

"We scored in every inning except the second," Shawsheen coach Scott Ialuna said. "We were relentless, and I thought it was great the way we came right back and scored after they pulled close. It was a great way to bounce back."

In addition to her exploits at the plate, Arena also had a fine day in the pitching circle giving up eight hits and two walks while striking out six.

Shawsheen came back even stronger in their next game, winning in a 14-0 rout over CAC rival Greater Lawrence on Monday, banging out 14 hits on their way to the blowout victory.

Once again Shawsheen got off to a fast start, this time scoring six runs in the top of the first inning and never looking back. On Senior Day, both senior Captains Lauren Barletta (1-for-2, two RBI's,) and Katie Stevens (3-for-4, two runs scored and two RBI's) had great days for the offense. Brooke Arena (2-for-3) and freshman Marissa Brangiforte of Tewksbury (2-for-2, one RBI) also did well offensively.

Defensively, Shawsheen got out of a one out bases loaded jam in the fourth inning with a 1-2-3 double play.

Brangiforte got the win, giving up three hits, and two walks, while striking out three over three innings. Sophomore Carlee Wickwire came on to pitch the final two innings giving up three hits and one walk.

It may go overlooked in blowout wins like the Redmen have had, but Ialuna has been very happy with the pitching of both Brangiforte and Arena as of late.

"Our pitching has been great the past couple of weeks. Brooke and Marissa have been outstanding," Ialuna said. "Even when Brooke lost to Whitinsville Christian last week, she pitched very well and only gave up three or four hits."

Of course, the pitching is helped immensely by the recent offensive splurge, particularly the early inning runs they have been putting up.

"We are swinging the bats really well right now, and we have been starting off well, which obviously helps the pitcher," Ialuna said. "The bats are getting hot at the right time, o hopefully they will keep it up."

The Lady Rams will have to be at their best if they are going to qualify for the post season, needing to beat both Bishop Fenwick and Arlington Catholic to get in, both of whom beat the Lady Rams with relative ease earlier in the season.

"Without question if we get in, we are going to earn out way in," Ialuna said. "We will definitely be tournament ready. It will be hard to do, but I know we will get the best effort out of these players. They have stepped up. We have talked about taking it one game at a time, and the game in front of us is the most important of the year. They have really responded to that, and I feel like they will continue to step up for us the rest of the way."

O'Flaherty's .382 clip ignites Rams baseball team on our team this year. And certainly, Brendan O'Flaherty is one of the greats. He leads by example every day in everything he does," McCarthy said. "He does everything full speed and with a purpose, one of those rare qualities that coaches love in a player. He tirelessly works on his game throughout the year, so when the season rolls around, he is already in mid-season mode and he is head and shoulders beyond most players."

O'Flaherty is hoping that once again all of the hard work he and his teammates have put in will pay off in another successful post season. Having won a first round tournament game in each of the past two seasons, O'Flaherty is looking for even more success this year.

"I definitely think we can do well," O'Flaherty said. "With the pitching that we have and with the way we hit the ball we will be hard to beat. All of our pitchers are so good, so we have a chance every time we go out there."

Of course the end of this season will also mean the end of O'Flaherty's career with the Rams and with his teammates, giving him plenty of motivation to succeed in the post season. Simply put, he does not want to see it end.

"It's definitely going to be very difficult to leave my teammates," O'Flaherty said. "The bond I have made with them and with coach Paq and coach Mac has been unbelievable. I will definitely miss being with them."

The end of his high school career, however, does not mean the end of his baseball career, as he will move on to Fitchburg State University next season where he will play under the direction of head coach Kevin Barnaby and assistant coach Randy Ortiz.

Ortiz coached O'Flaherty at the New England Summer Showcase this past summer, where O'Flaherty was named Offensive MVP, and he made it a priority to get O'Flaherty to visit the Fitchburg State campus and show him what the school had to offer. For O'Flaherty, a member of the National Honor Society, the decision to attend FSU was an easy one.

"I am so excited for it. Coach Mac and coach Paq have put me in such a good position as not just a baseball player but as a real man, and they have really prepared me for Fitchburg State," O'Flaherty said. "And I feel like coach Barnaby and coach Ortiz will be the same. They made me feel right at home right away when I visited the campus. I think it is the perfect place for me."

McCarthy, who is also a Social Studies teacher at Shawsheen, will be disappointed to lose one of his best players and team leaders, but he also knows that O'Flaherty will be very successful at the next level.

"He's one of the hardest workers I've seen in my entire teaching and coaching career. He's one of the top ranked students in the school, a member of the National Honor Society, and was selected as one of Shawsheen's Student of the Month award winners. Everything he does, he does with a purpose and with pride," McCarthy said. "He has been an absolute pleasure to coach over these past four years, and he will be sorely missed next year when he goes onto play college ball at Fitchburg State

Rams turning things around on the diamond

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
After hitting some hard times and going 1-2 two weeks ago, the Shawsheen Baseball team seems to team have turned things around with the state tournament pairings looming, going 2-0 this past week, with a pair of convincing wins, one of them coming over non-league rival Bedford and the other coming over CAC arch rival Greater Lowell, improving their record on the season to 12-6 overall and 9-4 in the CAC as they try to improve their seeding in the upcoming Division 3 North Tournament.

The Rams most recent win came on Monday, in a 5-1 win over Bedford, with senior pitcher Dan McCrevan of Tewksbury leading the way a complete game four hitter, striking out six, while needing only 72 pitches to get through the complete game.

"Dan was on for us against Bedford. That was a big non-league game for us and Dan and the defense stepped up big for us," Shawsheen coach Brian McCarthy said. "Dan was throwing strikes, getting ahead of hitters, and using his pitches effectively to get outs. It's the type of game that everyone likes to be involved in, 72 pitches for a complete game. The defense behind him was on their toes and making plays."

Leading the way offensively for the Rams were junior leftfielder Ryan Cumiskey (2-for-3, two runs scored) and senior first baseman Tyler Boutwell, with two runs scored, while senior second baseman Brendan O'Flaherty of Wilmington continued his outstanding season, going 2-for-4 with two doubles and three RBI's.

O'Flaherty has been outstanding all season long for the Ram, and Cumiskey and Boutwell have come on more as of late, as they both also had strong games against Greater Lowell.

"Ryan and Tyler having are some big games lately, and that goes to the fact that our line-up is pretty balanced one thorough nine," McCarthy said. "We have a bunch of guys in there who can get the job done. They have both been getting on base for us and then when the top of the order comes around, we've got guys like O'Flaherty to drive them in. It's a fairly balanced attack in our lineup that has been nice to see this year. We don't have to wait for one big hitter to come back up. A bunch of guys are capable of delivering."

A bunch of guys certainly delivered for the Rams in the win over Greater Lowell last Thursday on their way to a 14-0 victory. Senior catcher Evan Boczenowski was one of many offensive stars for the Rams, going 2-for-3 with three runs scored, while Cumiskey was 2-for-3 with two RBI's and Boutwell was 2-for-2 with two RBI's. Sophomore James Alagna meanwhile, was 2-for-4 with two runs scored.

"Greater Lowell is always a competitive game for us. They play us tough, and they are a fundamentally solid team that makes you earn every run you score,"

McCarthy said. "So, it was definitely a win that we were proud of. We got some great pitching a defense that day, and then the bats lit the fire with a big first inning and set the tone."

Senior pitcher Alex Tate of Tewksbury was once again outstanding for the Rams, throwing six innings, and allowing six hits, while striking out eight batters. Between the efforts of starting pitchers Tate, McCrevan and Leo Frisella of Tewksbury, along with reliever Liam Dawson, McCarthy is confident with whoever he sends to the mound.

"Tate has been and continues to be that work-horse in our rotation once again this year. He's a smart pitcher who knows how to pitch and make outs efficiently," McCarthy said. "And now, at this point in the season, with the playoffs right around the corner, it's been great to have three guys in our starting rotation that are getting some quality starts and Liam Dawson always lurking in the bullpen to help us get out of a jam and close a game off for us."

The Rams will wrap up their regular season with a game against Essex Tech on Wednesday before waiting to find out who their opponent will be in the first round of the state tournament and also wait to find out if they qualify for the state vocational tournament, whose pairings will be announced at the end of the week, with the tournament being held this weekend.

U9 Girls Lacrosse team faces Lowell

The Wilmington U9 Girls Youth Lacrosse team played Lowell on Sunday and both teams played strong games. Emma Ebert started the game in goal and did a fantastic job of blocking shots and getting the ball to her team. Gianna Young and Ella Gould played tough defense and did a great job at not letting the girls from Lowell get past them.

Leah Langone, Leah Murphy and Brooke Newhouse started out on midfield and worked well together passing the ball up the field. Meghann Warford and Krista Langone started the game at attack and did an excellent job of cutting for the ball and getting open for passes.

Shae Gould and Ali McElligott came into the game to help out at midfield during the first half of the game and ended up also having three more goals in the second half. Shae Gould had a goal assisted by Ali McElligott, Leah Murphy, Emma Ebert and Leah Langone. Ali McElligott had the fourth goal of the game with a hard shot that went right over the goalies head. Gianna Young, Shae Gould, Leah Murphy and Krista Langone had the assists on McElligott's goal. Leah Murphy came through again for Wilmington scoring the last goal of the game. Assists on Murphys second goal were from Gianna Young, Shae Gould, Ali McElligott and Meghan Warford to end the game tied at 5-5.

Boys U15 White

On Sunday, the Boys U15 White team played Belmont in an evenly matched game. Once again the defense was another goal.

With 1:30 left in the game, Belmont took a penalty and Wilmington called timeout to set their offense. Martin sent a blistering top shelf shot past the goalie on a great assist from Grecco with 0:52 remaining in the game.

Fittingly, Wilmington's defense would close this one out as they killed a penalty to end the game with a 4-4 final score.

Boys U15 Select

On Saturday morning the U15 Select team evened their record at 3-3 by beating Boston United 11-6 at the Woburn Street School.

The goaltending of Nolan MacNeil and the defense of Cam Kenyon, Pat McAndrew, Shane Penney, and Kyle Collins was fantastic.

game and showed their great stick work as they won ground balls and made perfect passes to their teammates.

With only two subs, the girls from Wilmington never gave up and played hard all game. The girls got alot of playing time and were able to shift to all different positions throughout the game.

By the end of the first half, Wilmington already had two goals but that didnt stop Lowell. Lowell continued to fight hard and also had two goals in the first half.

Gianna Young had a nice goal for Wilmington assisted by Ali McElligott, Shae Gould and Leah Murphy. Leah Murphy also had a goal in the first half which was assisted by Leah Langone, Shae Gould and Gianna Young.

Brooke Newhouse took over the goal for the second half of the game and did an excellent job making saves and never backing down.

The girls from Lowell continued to show their great endurance and skills and scored three goals during the second half.

Wilmington stayed on their opponents all game and did-the story in this game. Pat McAndrew, Cam Kenyon, Anthony Prezioso and Pat Xavier were stingy and physical, limiting Belmont's scoring chances.

The goaltending was outstanding in this one as Ryan Martin (first half) and JJ Thibert (second half) made many key saves to keep the Wildcats in the game.

Wilmington was down 2-0 at halftime and was applying consistant pressure with attacks Matt Miller, Jose Rojas-James and Thomas Grecco. Middies Jake Fox and Matt Pendenza also had scoring chances thwarted by Belmont.

Midfielder Dylan Albert got things going with a great ground ball pickup, which led to him streaking down the field and burying a shot to the bottom corner. Belmont then took a 4-1 lead on two quick goals to close out the third quarter.

The Wildcats never quit and at the five minute mark in the fourth quarter, Martin found a wide open Grecco and he easily beat the Belmont goaltender.

One minute later, middle Garrett Alberti hit Grecco with a perfect feed for fenders Matt Miller and Pat Xavier also had many ground balls won and contributed with tight man to man defense.

Offensively, the Wildcats had many contributors, but were paced by two goals each from Conor Rooney and Joe Ganley. Team leading scorer Zack Kincaid was held to one goal on the day, but his playmaking ability and unselfish play was key to the Wilmington attack.

The single goal scorers for Wilmington were midfielders Christian Robarge, Will O'Brien, Dave Fraser and Ryan Martin. Matt Wright also chipped in with a goal from his attack position. Assists on the day went to Robarge and Rooney with one each, and Dom Hall and Kincaid who each had two helpers.

Boys Under 9-1 travel soccer team takes on Burlington

Boys U9-1

Wilmington vs Burlington

The Wildcats traveled to Burlington this week and came home with a 3-1 victory. The boys played aggressively from the opening kickoff and fought hard until the final whistle.

Early in the first half, Casey Lanagan and Zack Guyette controlled the ball in the deep right corner of the Burlington defense. As Casey broke toward the net, a Burlington defender attempted to clear the ball. However, his clearance went directly to Lukas Poirier in front of the net who blasted the ball home for a 1-0 lead.

Later in the first half, Tommy Lewis and Jackson McDonald worked the ball into the same corner and combined on several passes to free themselves of the defenders. Tommy's cross found Jack Bourque who had pushed forward from his defensive position to slot home a shot off the post into the back of the net.

After keeping Burlington off the scoreboard in the first half, the defense continued to disrupt the Burlington attack in the second half. Oliver Ferrer intercepted several passes and made rushes up the right side that pressured the defense and created many opportunities for the Wildcats including his own volley attempt that somehow avoided the back of the net.

Cullen Walsh used his speed and strength to continually repel the Burlington attack. He dominated the left side and didn't allow anyone to pass by him. His speed led to quick transitions into the offensive end for Wilmington. Anthony Heigham was often the final defender and each time stood firm against the Burlington forwards. He repeatedly blocked shots or poked the ball away to frustrate the Red Devils.

With about ten minutes left, Jack Bourque passed the ball out of the defensive end to Lukas Poirier who was able to beat the keeper and secure his first brace of the season and put the Wildcats up 3-0.

Moments later, Casey made a perfect pass to Jackson at the top of the '18 yard box. Jackson's hard low shot went just wide of the left post.

As they have all season, the goalie tandem of Brennan Walsh and Mick Keogan kept Wilmington in the game. Mick started and aggressively picked off the long-range passes and punts of Burlington. Each time sacrificing his body to dive in front of a charging forward to scoop up the ball before they could get a shot off.

Brennan made the saves of the game in a quick sequence in the second half when he jumped to punch a Burlington shot into the post and then dove in front of a hard shot and made a desperation save with the side of his head. The fans cheered as Brennan not only made the save, but as he jumped up after showing he wasn't injured.

Wilmington held Burlington to a single late goal on a rocket of a shot from outside the '18.

Boys U9-2

Wilmington vs Burlington

Wilmington BU9-2 team traveled to Burlington on Saturday in what turned out to be a tough fight. Wilmington players Danny O'Mahony and Cameron Jenks stayed on their toes creating many scoring opportunities while battling a tough Burlington defense.

Toward the end of the first half, Wilmington got on the board with goals from Lincoln Levesque and Koko Shinohara which added that bit of excitement to the game.

The second half continued the excitement as the offense led by Brendan Fitzgerald and Layne Coutu combined to pressure Burlington, just to come up short. Kaleb Molina and Jack Murphy held a strong defensive back, while solid goalkeeping by Tyler Florencio and Ayden Balter kept the Burlington team working hard. Tyler Marinho and Ryan Muise assisted on the field for a solid combined team effort.

Pan Mass Kids Bike Ride Challenge once again a success

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

brendanmfoley@outlook.com
WILMINGTON- It was another successful year for the Pan Mass Challenge Kids Ride, with almost a hundred local kids heading down to the Boutwell School on Sunday to ride their bikes in support of the Pan Mass Challenge's quest to end cancer.

Every year, the Pan Mass Challenge draws thousands of cyclists. Over 36 years, the PMCS has raised over $500 million for cancer research. The Kids Ride gives the younger set a chance to participate in that spirit of giving.

"It went very well," said Sue Hendee, the event organizer. "The weather held up, so that was nice. All the volunteers were great. It was a very good day."

With over 80 participants, Hendee was glad to see that everyone who participated seemed to have a good time.

"The kids get a real sense of pride because they can make a difference," Hendee said. "And the kids like the riding and the hot dogs and the face-painting that we do. I think parents are more in-tune with the cause."

Starting at 9:00 a.m. students in Kindergarten through Grade 3 rode the course, followed by grades 4 through 6. Even the youngest got the chance to get involved with the "Tykes on Trikes" course set up in the tennis courts in the morning.

Hendee, who has been participating with PMC for over 30 years and has shepherded the Kids Ride for 11 years, still hopes to see the event grow.

"It's just an incredibly busy time of year," Hendee said. "Everyone just has so much going on."

But even still, many people make the sacrifice, both in terms of the kids who ride, their parents who cheer them on, and the volunteers that come down to the school to help keep the event running smoothly.

"I can't speak highly enough of our volunteers," Hendee said. "They were super great. A lot of people are always behind the scenes, doing what they can to help out."

But the heart of the Kids Ride was, of course, the kids, and Hendee was greatly encouraged by the enthusiasm and energy that she saw from those kids who took the time to ride for such a great cause.

"The kids really seemed to try and challenge themselves," Hendee said. "They kept track of how many laps they had done and kept trying to do better. It was just a great day."

Bobby King rode his bike through the PanMass Challenge course at the tennis courts at the Boutwell School on Saturday. Celilia Chase, from the Wilmington girls Varsity Soccer Team volunteered to help out and blew bubbles as the little riders made their way through the arches.

Lady Rams Track-and-Field take home Mass Voc (Large) Meet Title

By JAMIE POTE

jamiepote@hotmail.com
EASTON - Last Thursday, the Shawsheen Tech Girls Track-and-Field team was crowned the Mass State Vocational Large Division Champions during the Voc Championship Meet held at Southeastern Regional Tech in Easton, Mass.

The Rams finished second overall out of 17 teams, as Worcester Tech had 109 points but were crowned the Mass Voc Small School Champs.

"(Thursday's) victory is validation of the last three years of hard work and dedication put forth by the senior class," said head coach

Jeff McGrath. "These girls suffered through some early growing pains as sophomores and have continued to grow and improve over time. They have reinvented this program and put it back on the map. They have set a standard that the underclassmen have learned to strive for."

"They are an incredible group of young ladies to whom I owe the world. They trusted and believed and they deserve every bit of this."

The Rams were led by the excellent performance by Wilmington resident Jackie Broderick. She won the 800-meter run with a time of 2:38.36, then finished third in the mile at 6:06.02 before joining Ivana Wisky, Lauren Pottie and Shannon Fitzgerald to win the 4x800 relay race with a combined time of 11:14.17.

Alex DiPerri finished second in the 100 meters with a time of 13.11, while Lia Ferreri was third in the 400-meter hurdles (1:14.76) before joining Janina Kennedy, Charlotte Henderson and Molly Harrington to finish second in the 4x400 relay race with a combined time of 4:36.59.

Kennedy was also fourth in the 100-meter hurdles (18.43), Harrington was sixth in the shot put (29-08) and Henderson was seventh in the 400 (1:06.37).

Finally Holly DeCoursey had a busy and productive day. She was third in the triple jump (33-08.50), sixth in the 200 (29.10) and joined DiPerri, Rachel MacDonald and Katie Dunlevy to finish second in the 4x100 relay with a time of 53.83 seconds.

The Shawsheen Boys finished third overall with 76 points, trailing Greater Lowell (coached by TMHS Boys' Soccer coach Chris Burns) which had 79 points and Diman Regional with 76.50.

Kyle Simonds had the best day for the Rams as he was first in the 400-meter hurdles (1:00.45), sixth in the 800 (2:15.69) and joined Story Michaud, Andrew McCarthy and RJ Page on the winning 4x800 relay team with a combined time of 9:08.20. Page was also eighth in the mile at 5:04.69.

Zach Buckland and Christian Lucchesi also had busy afternoons. Buckland was second in both the 110-meter hurdles (16.62) and 400-meter hurdles (1:00.92) and also was seventh in the triple jump at 38-09.50.

Lucchesi was third in the 400 (52.70), sixth in the 200 (24.27) and was part of the third place 4x400 relay team along with Sam Chebook, Scott Callahan and Nick Sachetta, with a combined time of 3:35.58. Chebook, Callahan with Jared Mason and Nick Gird finished third in the 4x100 with a time of 45.63 seconds. Gird was also third in the 100 at 11.47.

Sam Baker was also a double place finisher with a third in the triple jump (41-1) and eighth in the long jump (18-07.50).

Rounding out the individual performances include Ryan Phelan with a second in the javelin (131-06); Joe Genetti with an eighth in the 400-meter hurdles (1:05.83); Frankie Irizarry with a ninth in the 110-meter hurdles (19.09) and Ethan Stienberg with a tenth place finish in the shot put (35-09.00).

Both the Shawsheen Girls and Boys teams will return to action at the Division 3 Eastern Mass Championship Meet to be held on Saturday at Burlington High. Field events begin at 3, followed by running events at 4.

Shawsheen Tech Boys Lacrosse team defeated by Manchester-Essex

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent
sports@yourtowncrier.com

It was a very light week for the Shawsheen Tech Boys Lacrosse team, with only one game, as the Rams suffered a 14-7 loss to non-league rival Manchester Essex the on time they did take to the field.

It was no doubt a tough loss for the Rams, but it was also the first bit of bad news in quite some time for the team, as they had won 12 of their past 13 games dating back to April 22, leaving the Rams, who clinched the CAC title two weeks ago, with a 15-4 overall record after finishing a perfect 10-0 in the CAC.

Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker was not entirely disappointed with the loss, as he knows what a talented team Manchester-Essex is, but he had hoped his team would play a little better.

"Manchester is one of the non-league teams that I schedule each season knowing that they are going to be a solid opponent," Baker said. "We did not show up to play a four quarter lacrosse game. It is disappointing to be this deep in the season and not come to play. On the bright side, we had a couple of moments during the game that we played OK. They are a quality team, but I do not see them as a team that is seven goals better."

Zach DeLuca led the way on offense for the Rams with two goals and two assists, while sophomore attack Will Bouley potted two goals and senior attack Jack Stone of Tewksbury along with Jake Nardone had a goal and an assist each, and freshman attack Owen Sullivan had a goal.

Minus Monday's loss to Manchester, the Rams had been on quite a roll, and Baker is hoping they can carry that momentum over to the state tournament next week and before that, the State Vocational Tournament day, which will get under way on Thursday at Shawsheen against a yet to be determined opponent.

"We have been playing well, we just need to put in a complete four quarter game as a team," Baker said. "We have been lacking this all season. We always seem to have a let-down, whether it be for a five minute span or a full quarter. We can't afford this going into the State Voke and the MIAA tournament."

Wilmington-Tewksbury Varsity Baseball

Morris Brothers, Redmen push Wilmington's losing streak to three

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
TEWKSBURY - The actual game was overshadowed by the first-class pre-game ceremonies in which the town of Tewksbury rededicated the newly renovated Gary T. Strong Field. But lost in the shuffle of the festivities was the Tewksbury Memorial High School Baseball team pulling out an upset 6-3 victory over its neighbors from Wilmington in a non-league contest played Monday afternoon.

The win pushed Tewksbury to 4-14 overall with two games left in the annual Lawrence Tournament, while Wilmington dropped its third straight game, falling to 9-9 on the season and need one win in their two-game annual Scanlon Memorial Tournament to be played at its newly renovated field at WHS this weekend.

Junior right-hander Ryan Morris tossed a complete game victory for Tewksbury, giving up three earned runs on seven hits, while walking three, hitting another and striking out six. While he wasn't overpowering, Morris mixed up his pitches very well and relied on his defense which played error-free ball.

"I don't think we have kicked the ball around all that much this season, but our issue has been that we don't score a lot of runs," said Redmen first-year head coach Kirk Monbleau. "When we have kicked the ball around once or twice, the other team will score a bunch of runs and we haven't been able to score the runs."

"The other problem we have had this season is when we have runners in scoring position, we haven't been driving them in but today we did that especially in that third inning."

Tewksbury trailed 2-0 going to the last of the third before sending ten batters to the plate scoring five. Brett Morris has a big two-run double over the right fielder's head and No. 9 hitter Tyler Wilson had a solid two-run single up the middle. Inbetween those to hits were two big defensive errors by the Wildcats, who have now been outscored 24-5 during the three-game losing streak.

"We had that nice five-game winning streak where we were getting clutch hits and we were playing some great defense but everything has seemed to gone south since," said Wilmington head coach Aldo Caira. "We can't field routine groundballs, we continue to give up a bunch of unearned runs and we can't get clutch hits. It was the same thing the other day (against Burlington)."

Wilmington took the 2-0 lead after the top of the third as sophomore Graham Smith got things going with a single to center field before stealing both second and third. Matt Spurr walked and stole second, and then Smith scored on an errant pick-off throw. After a single by Brian Cavanaugh, Jackson Gillis then lofted a sacrifice fly scoring Spurr.

Tewksbury stormed right back putting together the five-run inning. Cam Legvold started it by getting hit by a Danny Gracia pitch. Kyle Zervas singled and that set the table for Brett Morris, who clubbed a two-run double over the right fielder's head. After an error and a walk, Ryan Morris hit a sacrifice fly to score his brother. Then later in the inning with the bases loaded and two out, Wilson drove in Jeff Anderson and Jack Theriault with a two-run single.

"Both Brett and Tyler stepped up when we needed them to," said Monbleau. "I thought it was a complete team effort win today."

Ryan Morris then tossed three scoreless innings and he knocked in a run in the bottom of the fourth extending the lead to 6-2.

"Ryan was just throwing strikes," said Monbleau. "The times when he has struggled he tends to throw his fastball up a lot and he would get frustrated. Today he kept his composure. He had a couple of tough at bats that he battled back from and he also threw his curveball for strikes too. He did a real nice job of keeping the hitters off-balance."

Wilmington started to put something together in the top of the seventh. With one out and the bases empty, Justin Leger hit a hard shot over the left fielder's head for a stand-up double. Smith singled sending Leger to third.

Spurr followed with a sacrifice fly to score Leger, and Cavanaugh singled putting two runners on. But Morris got out of the jam by striking out the last batter and the Wildcats fell victim once again.

"We were 9-6 and now we're 9-9 and I think we are all kind of shocked right now," said Caira. "We (lose today) to a team that has just three wins all season, or four now. I guess we just are going to keep things interesting this weekend. It looks like (the Wilmington kids) are going to have to play."

"We are going to face a very tough team in Austin Prep on Saturday. I think they are 14-3 or something like that, and then we'll get either Chelmsford or Winchester so it's going to be hard - this is not going to be easy."

Wilmington will face Austin Prep Saturday at noon in the first round of the annual Scanlon Tournament. The consolation game will be Sunday at noon, followed by the championship game at 4:30.

Tewksbury faced North Andover in the first round of the annual Lawrence Tournament on Wednesday. They will then face either Lawrence or Andover on Friday at 4:30 for consolation or 7:00 for the championship game.

'Cats fall to Red Devils

Needing a win to qualify for the state tournament, the Wilmington High School Baseball team took one on the chin on Friday afternoon. The Wildcats were defeated by two touchdowns, and were knocked down for good after giving up eight runs in the top of the fifth which was more than enough for Burlington to come away with a 14-0 victory played at Dick Scanlon Memorial Field.

The loss puts Wilmington at 9-8 overall with three games left against Tewksbury, and then in the annual Scanlon Tournament this weekend with Austin Prep and then either Chelmsford or Winchester. Burlington (11-6) led 2-0 after four before breaking it wide open in the fifth. The Red Devils sent 12 batters to plate and scored those eight runs on four hits, five consecutive walks and an error mixed in. They would add four more runs in the top of the seventh.

All in all Burlington banged out 12 hits, drew seven walks, had another one get hit by a pitch, while Wilmington made one error and also had a wild pitch and a passed ball.

"I didn't think we were (flat)," said Wilmington head coach Aldo Caira. "I don't know what we were. I can't figure this team out. We beat teams like Reading and Wakefield and then we play not so good against Stoneham and then have something like this."

"I just can't figure this team out. They can be as good as they want to be. It's not for a lack of want because they came out and wanted to win."

On the other end, Wilmington managed just two singles by Graham Smith and Jarred Aucoin. The 'Cats did have the bases loaded in the first with two outs by Burlington got out of the jam by getting a fly out to end the inning. Both of the hits came in the second inning before 16 of the last 17 batters were retired with Matt Spurr reaching on an infield error with two outs in the sixth.

"(Burlington's Justin Hurley) pitched well but we have faced better but we couldn't get anything going. We need to get back to practice and get things going again. We need to get one more to qualify. We need to get our heads back in this," said Caira.

Winning ways continue for CAC Champs

By MIKE IPPOLITO Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

BILLERICA -- The wins just keep piling up for the Shawsheen Tech Girls Lacrosse team, who put two more games in the win column this past week, running their winning streak to ten straight games with wins over Dracut, and Assabet, improving their overall record on the season to 12-3. The CAC champion Lady Rams kicked their week off by traveling to Dracut last Wednesday for the second nail biting game against the Middies this season. Shawsheen previously won 6-1 back at the beginning of May with Catherine McKenna of Tewksbury scoring the sudden death game winning goal with 1:36 left in double overtime.

This time around was strikingly similar, as the Rams won 7-6 over Dracut with Hannah Dechiara scoring the tie breaking goal with 1:10 left on the clock. Dracut got one the board early in this one, scoring the first goal of the game just six minute into the contest, but the Lady Rams responded quickly, with Michelle Farragher of Tewksbury tying the game with a goal just 50 seconds later. Goals by McKenna and Farragher extended the Shawsheen lead 4-1 at the end of the first half.

Much like the last time these two teams squared off, the Middies refused to give in to Shawsheen, scoring just 15 seconds into the second half and adding another moments later to close within 4-3.

Goals by McKenna and Annie Riddle pushed the Shawsheen lead to 4-3 and the Lady Rams appeared to be in good position for the win, but once again Dracut refused to give in, scoring three straight goals to tie the game at 6-6 with just a few minutes left in the game.

That's when McKenna Kerrie Malloy took over for the Lady Rams, taking over possession with less than two minutes remaining, taking off on a full field sprint towards the Dracut net, and passed it off just inside the restraining line to attack Hannah Dechiara who dodged a defender and sunk it in the net with 1:10 showing on the clock for what would prove to be the game winning goal.

The fight was not over, as Dracut came up with the ball off the final draw, and called timeout with eleven seconds to go to draw up a play.

"I told (senior defender) Nicole Kopacz, who was closest to the ball, to do whatever it takes to get it back, and he she got the ball and just took off running," said first year Lady Rams coach Alex O'Reilly. "We finished the game with the ball in our possession, and it was awarded to (freshman goalie) Julia Ryan of Wilmington for being the game MVP with 12 incredible saves.

"Julia is an incredibly talented goalie. She has so much to offer as a player and a person, and she is the one of the key components to our success this season."

On Monday the Lady Rams hit the road to travel to Assabet, and despite coming away with a 10-7 win, they did not play as well as O'Reilly would have hoped, as they were forced to come back from a 4-1 halftime deficit."

"This was certainly an off day for our team. We were down 4-1 at the half against a team we had previously beaten 16-7," O'Reilly said. "Assabet is a first year program with a few notably talented players. They have a great coach who knows what she's doing, and I told my team to expect Assabet to be significantly better the second time around. "Unfortunately it took the first 25 minutes for us to realize that they had in fact improved, but the girls got themselves together and played our game for the second half."

Annie Riddle scored two minutes into the second half for the Lady Rams, followed my Michelle Farragher, Kim Hayes, and sophomore defender Sarah Constantino to make the score 5-4 in favor of Shawsheen.

The score stood tied at 5-5 with eleven minutes left when Riddle and McKenna took over for the Lady Rams, finally giving them some breathing room, while Sarah Constantino of Tewksbury added her second goal of the game and Erin Mader of Tewksbury capped the scoring.

"Sarah Constantino is certainly one of our most improved players of the season. She shows up to practice every day with a smile on her face, and every game ready to do whatever is asked of her," O'Reilly said. "She played offense throughout her youth career, and has switched to defense this season at my request. I see a full field mid position coming her way next year, and there is no doubt in my mind that she'll put in the preparation to take on the role."

Goalie Jess Shepperd had nine saves in net to earn the win.

The Lady Rams have wrapped up their regular season, but they have plenty of post season play to prepare for, starting with the State Vocational Tournament which will get underway on Thursday at 3:00 at Shawsheen when the No. 1 seed Lady Rams take on No.4 Greater Lowell in the semi-finals, with the winner of that game moving on to Saturday's championship game where they will take on the winner of the other semi-final between No. 2 Essex Tech and No. 3 Old Colony.

Scott Oberg sent down to Triple-A

By JAMIE POTE Sports Editor

jamiapote@hotmail.com

Just four days before fulfilling his lifelong dream of throwing a Major League pitch at Fenway Park, Tewksbury's Scott Oberg was optioned back to Triple A Albuquerque on Friday afternoon as part of a series of transactions made by the Colorado Rockies.

In addition to his demotion, relief pitcher Christian Bergman was put on the disabled list, while Miguel Castro and Jordan Lyles were recalled from the same Isotopes Club.

After appearing in 64 games last year, Oberg started this season off in Triple-A before being recalled in late April. He made eight appearances without recording a decision. In 11.1 innings, he gave up 12 hits, 6 earned runs, while walking 5 and striking out 6. After giving up a run in his first outing, he went five straight appearances without giving up a run, a total of six innings.

Then last Thursday, he gave up three runs in a two-inning stint against St. Louis, including giving him a three-run home run to Matt Carpenter.

Oberg was sent down the following day and the Rockies then traveled to Pittsburgh and then came to Boston for a series on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Elsewhere in pro ball, Wilmington resident Stephen Peterson is continuing his hot start as a relief pitcher for the Double-A Biloxi Shuckers, the affiliate of the Milwaukee Brewers. In 20 games this season, the southpaw has a 4-0 record with a 2.28 ERA.

In 23.2 innings, he has given up 19 hits, 6 earned runs while walking 7 and striking out 25.

Finally, starting June 9th, the Major League Baseball Draft will be held and Wilmington High senior Jackson Gillis will be selected and will become the fourth person from Wilmington to be drafted by a MLB team. The Town Crier will have extensive coverage on this when the team comes.

ROAD RACE RESULTS

Timmy Watson's defense sparks the A's

Farm League Baseball A's vs Cardinals

The A's played a great game all around, defensively, offensively, and on the mound. Timmy Watson had many great plays including a catch on a line drive to the outfield that surprised everyone.

The team had a particularly great last inning with hits all through the lineup, led by big hits to the outfield from Reiley Young and Roman Synnott, who also pitched a solid third inning.

Another highlight of the game was the last inning in the field when Johnny Bottari made three straight catches at first base for a 1-2-3 inning.

Nolan Gouthro also pitched a solid fourth inning. The Cardinals played very well too with a lot of hits, some great defense, and solid pitching.

Astros vs. A's

The A's played another great game. There was lots of good pitching, hitting and defense.

Aidan Largenton and Johnny Rooft had some great pitches in their first appearance on the mound and hit the ball solidly. Gavin Burke had a solid line drive to the outfield among other hits and made some great plays at First Base. Kyle Tibbetts also had multiple solid hits to go along with some good defense.

The Astros continued crushing the ball as Mike Taylor, Chris DeFilippo, and Erin McCarthy each went 5-for-5. James Passerini, Justin Fricia, Kevin Pruslin, and Ryan Gray each added four hits while Quinn Stockman, Evan Cummings, Roman DiZoglio, and Dylan Alexander contributed hits as well.

Taylor had an unassisted double play in the field on a line drive, Gray had a diving catch at second base, and and DiZoglio were some of the others throwing leather. Gray and Passerini each struck out two during their innings on the mound.

Astros vs. Giants
The Astros came out strong in the first with outstanding defense from Devin Degennaro as he had back to back to back grounders where he scooped them up and threw them out at first.

The offense then started out hot with four base hits in row from Nicolas Lentile, Riley Caples,, Nathan Anderson, and Colin Holman which was then followed up by a bomb deep into the outfield by Jonathan Malley. Matthew Boyer and Jake Arsenault also had big hits in the game and played strong defense. Kyle Price was solid behind plate, while Aiden Harris and Keegan Perna both contributed with keys hits in the game.

The Giants played well too with great hitting and fielding.

Braves vs Cardinals

For the Braves, Parker Canevari made a terrific play at second to get the final out of the inning and Jacob McGahey was great defensively at third base for the Braves with a big stop and great hustle that prevented extra bases. Mickey Moroney made a great stop at shortstop to hold runner to a single.

At the plate, Devin MacDonald, Nolan White, and Ethan Lydon had big hits and Theo Bryson celebrated his birthday by hitting two strong singles to advance the runners. Dillan Roberts showed aggressive base running that allowed him to score from second base in the bottom of the first.

The Cardinals played a strong game defensively as well and had a number of hits throughout the game.

Braves vs. Astros

After recovering from an injury last week, the Braves' Dylan Mainini drilled a nice fly ball to the outfield over the opponent's heads. Dillan Roberts made an excellent defensive play to Nathan Murphy at first base. Murphy later made a great stop and beat the runner to first. Ethan Lydon made an awesome stop and also beat the runner to first.

Devin MacDonald, Jacob McGahey, and Nolan White had great hits and Patrick Moriarity did an awesome job at his first time at catcher.

The Astros played a great game as well at the plate and in the field.

Major League Baseball

White Sox 11, Orioles 2

Ryan Ackerley pitched a complete game gem for the White Sox striking out ten batters. Colin Gates, Jake Glinner, Cam Marzilli, and Joey Pastore had multiple hit games for the White Sox.

Dillon Bloom, John Velozo, Luke Murphy, Dan Passerini, and Ashton Lowell pitched for the Orioles. Colin Sainato and Luke Murphy had multiple hits for the Orioles.

White Sox shortstop Jake Glinner made the defensive play of the game diving to catch a line drive smash off the bat of Dillon Bloom in the sixth inning. Devin Milano played a solid centerfield for the Orioles catching several fly balls.

White Sox 10, Red Sox 6

Aidan Elkins second home run of the season, solid relief pitching by David Clemente, and solid team defense led the White Sox to a victory over the Red Sox. Elkins three hits and Colin Gates two hits led the hitting attack for the White Sox. Jake Glinner, Ryan Ackerley, Joe McCauley, and Kevin Ackerley also had hits.

Garrett Moretto and Steven O'Connor pitched for the Red Sox with Moretto leading the Red Sox bats with two hits. Ben McEwen, Brian Davey, Liam Fagan, and Alex Burns also contributed hits for the Red Sox. Ryan Ackerley played a solid shortstop for the White Sox with six defensive putouts.

Wilmington In-Town Soccer highlights

Boys Grade 1: NY Red Bulls vs. Chicago Fire

In what could have been confused as a World Cup Match, the New York Red Bulls started off strong with great offensive pressure from Chase O'Brien and Rafael Hernandez Osorno.

Coupled with the steel-like defense of Preston Hunt, their efforts made for an incredible game. Zachary Atwater scored first for the New York Red Bulls, while the Hope Solo like effort of Jackson Griffith provided solid goal-keeping to keep their team alive.

NE Revolution vs. Houston Dynamo

The New England Revolution took on the Houston Dynamo in what turned out to be the most exciting game of the season. The dynamic duo of Fernando Guevara and Nathan Anderson combined to put the Revs on the score board only to see the Dynamo come back.

The back and forth exchange kept the hard working team of Cameron Molina, Ethan Lydon, James Savoie and Kyle Price on their heels as they battle each counter attack.

Columbus Crew vs. Seattle Sounders

The crowd was kept on the edge of their seats this week as the Crew, led by the offensive skills of Thomas Murphy and Dillan Roberts resulted in goals by Jack Cronin, Jonathan Malley and Dillan Roberts.

The defense was not to be left out of this one either as Jack Cronin and Jonathan Malley kept the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

Top-notch play kept people watching this one. Excellent offensive plays by Cole Falk and Riley Caples led to mul-tip goals by Cael Considine. Richard Holland applied heavy pressure causing Columbus to back pedal. Defensive positioning by Collin Holman and Nolan White fended off any threat that came thru making it tough for Columbus.

Girls Grade 1: FC Kansas City vs. Chicago Red Stars

With a short bench due to dance recital rehearsals, it was all hands on deck for FC Kansas City on Saturday. A special thanks to Bailey O'Connor of the Chicago Red Stars for volunteering to play with FC Kansas City.

As for the game, the air was full of excitement, as the much-anticipated match between FC Kansas City and the Chicago Red Stars commenced. Fantastic ball skills were displayed by Bella St. Onge and Bailey O'Connor, resulting in goals by Shannon Hounsell. The midfield and defensive play of Danielle Chillemi, and Hailey Reguera kept FC Kansas City in excellent shape on this beautiful day at the Shawsheen fields.

Western NY Flash vs. Seattle Reign

Fans were pulling for both teams throughout this match between the Flash and the Reign. Near miss scoring opportunities by Gabby Carriglio, Emma Tarin and Ruby Poulo had both sidelines gasping for breathe.

Strong mid field play by Amy Keohane, Katelyn Perkins and Kalea Lamb, kept the Reign out of the Flash's defensive third. Strong backbone play by Angelina and Celina Vo cleared many a scoring chance out of the Flash's goalmouth.

Girls Grade 2: Washington Spirit vs. FC Kansas City

Top-Notch play kept people

Katherine Hughes, Alison McElligott, Mackenzie Scanlon, and Kaitlyn Shackelford also played a great game in net, keeping the game in hand. A special thanks to Samantha Bolanos for switching teams to allow a game to be played due to the Washington Spirit being short handed. It goes to show the great group of girls that we have here in

Wilmington Youth Soccer. Western NY Flash vs. Boston Breakers

The Boston Breakers were also impressive on the offensive side of the ball with great skill being displayed by Lilly Abbott, Lindsay Broussard and Skylar Nguyen leading to goals by Casey Kelley.

The defense was also showing their skills today with Emma Chirichello and Macy Savage keeping the ball out of their zone for much of the game, while the goal keeping team of Isabella Zaya and Nicole Gallucci kept this game close.

Girls Kinders: Orlando Pride vs. Seattle Reign

The Orlando Pride led by Kaia Donn got the crowd jumping out of their seats. Gianna O'Connell and Caroline Broussard led the scoring charge while the great defensive effort of Sarah Najarian and Taylor Najarian kept the action going.
